Marion's New Code Placed in Effect

City Ordinances Indexed, Published in Book For First Time

Marion's newly revised and codified city laws went into effect yesterday and, along with ordinances in force many years, placed in operation a set of laws new to the city code covering 16 subjects.

In book form, "The Code of the City of Marion, Ohio, 1953" contains 262 pages including the index. In addition there are two and one-half pages explaining adoption of the code, a table of contents, a preface and frontispiece.

Provision is also made for keeping the code up to date as new laws of a general and permanent nature are passed by City Council. On the inside of the back cover there is a pocket in which supplements of the latest laws may be placed. This is the first time in history that city laws have been organized and written in this manner.

Arranged in alphabetical order, the code is divided into 25 chapters which in turn are divided into articles and sections. Largest single chapter is one entitled "Motor Vehicles and Traffic" which takes up 61 pages of the code. This is also one of the sections containing new laws.

Traffic Section

The traffic section itself is new in that for the first time all city traffic laws are arranged under one heading. Among the new laws in this chapter is one which gives police authority to impound cars illegally parked or which have been wrecked or abandoned. This chapter also enumerates the through streets in the city for the first time. There are 136 separate sections or ordinances in this chapter.

Topics covered in other new or revised laws are relative to: the code itself, general penalty and continuing violations, effect of repeal of ordinances, finance and taxation, adoption and filing of the National Board of Fire Underwriter's Fire Prevention Code, adoption of the U. S. Public Health Service Milk Ordinance, disorderly conduct, intoxication, indecent exposure, weapons, taxicabs, and taxicab driver's licenses.

Revision and codification of the city's ordinances actually started in 1947 when Harry L. Dowler, then mayor, commissioned Ralph W. Howard, then a law student, to assemble all ordinances of a "general and permanent nature" into a code. Howard, who is now assistant to the president at the Huber Manufacturing Co., went back through city records and classified ordinances of this type. He then indexed them and organized them into chapters. The following year Rex Larkins, also a law student, checked over the code as organized by Howard. Larkins now resides in Mansfield.

Copies of this code, typed in loose leaf form, were provided the mayor, safety-service director and

U.S. Opposes Unity at Price Of U.N. Seat

Will Not 'Buy' Accord By Allowing Red China To Join, Asserts Dulles

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said today the United States will not buy Korean unity at the price of Red Chinese membership in the United Nations. He added this country has the right to veto any move to grant the Chinese Communists a U. N. seat.

Dulles announced he will fly to Korea Sunday to confer with South Korean President Syngman Rhee. They will discuss problems coming up in a Korean political conference, and the negotiation of a U. S. — Korean security pact.

Dulles disclosed for the first time officially—although it has been publicly known for two weeks—that the United States had agreed with Rhee to walk out of the political conference if after 90 days it appears to be a sham, with the Reds negotiating in bad faith.

Talking at a news conference, Dulles also disclosed oficially the United States has indicated it would be willing to include in the defense pact with Korea a provision giving this country the right to station forces in or around Korea for the purpose of preserving peace. Rhee had asked such a provision.

Dulles said his flying trip to Korea would be brief and he hopes to return to Washington in a week.

He expects to take with him a bipartisan group of senators—Republicans Knowland of California and Alexander Smith of New Jersey, and Democrats Russell of Georgia and Lyndon Johnson of Texas.

Dulles said he had invited them to go. He also pointed out the Senate will have to ratify any treaty negotiated.

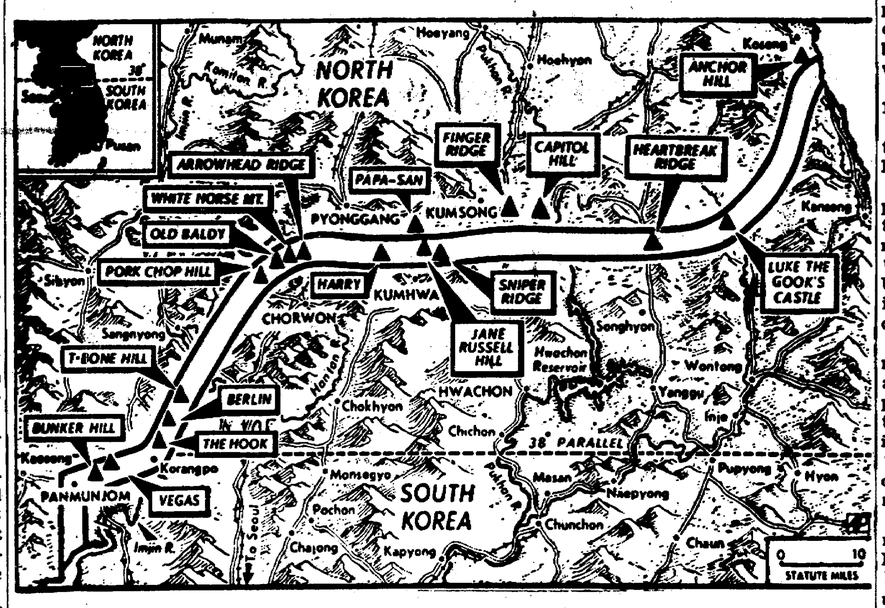
The United States may press for a U. N. delegation to the Korean peace conference made up exclusively from among the 17 nations which actually fought the Communists.

This was reported under consideration today after Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) told the Senate "we must not allow neutrals who sat out three years of war" to have a decisive voice in the peace talks, due to begin within 90 days.

Authorities said Secretary of State Dulles and his principal advisers, with the armistice signing out of the way, have just started a close study of plans for the conference. One of the proposals up for decision is whether to try to limit the delegation to the nations which made direct military contributions.

The U. N. General Assembly has been summoned to meet Aug. 17 to receive a formal report from the U. N. Command on the Korean armistice.

AFTER THREE YEARS THE GUNS ARE SILENT. Waving their rifles, United States Marines in Korea (upper photo) cheer the news that the firing is over. "No more patrols, thank God," was the reaction of one Marine, while all another Marine could say was, "I feel like walking the Pacific Ocean back home." Map (in lower photo) locates the new military demarcation line agreed to by Allied and Red negotiators at Panmunjom according to a map released by Gen. Mark W. Clark's headquarters. The line is anchored on the Imjin River in the extreme west and curves to a point about 5 miles south of Kosong on the east coast.



Joint Truce Commission Takes Charge

Nearly 87,000 Will Be Traded; Reds To Free Up to 400 Daily

MUNSAN (AP)—The Allies and Communists agreed today to start exchanging almost 87,000 prisoners of war Aug. 5 and the joint Military Armistice Commission set in motion machinery for enforcing the day-old Korean armistice.

Once the long-awaited prisoner exchange gets under way, the Reds will free about 400 men daily at Panmunjom. The U. N. Command said it will deliver about 2,760 daily, including 360 sick and wounded.

Detailed prisoner exchange plans were adopted by the military armistice committee for prisoner exchange as five different truce bodies gathered in Panmunjom.

Maj. Gen. Blackshear M. Bryan, who heads the Allied team on the joint military commission, described the first meeting of the group Tuesday as "like walking a tightrope."

Bryan said the U. N. Command was ready to start exchanging prisoners this week, but he doubted if the Reds would be able to begin that swiftly. The Aug. 5 date was announced later.

The commission meets again at 11 a. m. Wednesday.

These other developments punctuated the first full day of the Korean armistice:

1. Allied and Red forces began pulling back about 1¼ miles from the battlefront to create a 2½-mile-wide buffer zone. They blew up front-line fortifications. The U. N. also began evacuating key islands of both North Korean coasts.

2. South Korean President Syngman Rhee said he had received assurances that if the postwar political conference breaks down, the 16 United Nations with forces in Korea "are determined to fight with us jointly in a complete unity of purpose." Rhee made the statement in a message to his nation.

3. Polish and Czech officers reportedly were traveling from Peiping, the Red China capital, to Panmunjom, where they will take up posts on the Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission. Swiss and Swedish delegates, now in Tokyo, were due within 48 hours. The commission will police the truce.

4. Gen. Mark W. Clark and Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison Jr., senior Allied truce delegate, returned to Tokyo from Korea. Before leaving, Clark finished signing the truce documents. The Allied armistice negotiating team has been disbanded and Harrison returns to his old job as Clark's chief of staff.

As staff officers agreed on plans for exchanging prisoners, the U.N. Command began moving North Korean and Chinese prisoners to the mainland from Koje and Cheju islands off South Korea.

About 3,600 Koreans and 1,200 Chinese were in the first group.

The prisoners will be held at Yongdongpo on the outskirts of Seoul and at Munsan, the Allied prisoner of war command announced.

Precautions were being taken to head off possible Red demonstrations such as occurred during the exchange of sick and wounded prisoners last April.

Col. L. C. Friedersdorf, head of the U. N. team on the military armistice committee for prisoner exchange, said the Reds reported they hold about 500 sick and wounded prisoners. They gave no break down by nationality.

The U. N. holds about 3,000 disabled Communist prisoners.

The Reds have said they will

Three Half-Mill Tax Levies Requested For County Buildings and Expenses

Hospital Board Appointments Win Approval

City Council Confirms Selection of Four Men To Board of Governors

Appointment of four Marion men to a Board of Governors to supervise operation of the Marion General Hospital after its completion was approved by City Council last night.

A resolution calling for the appointment of Dr. M. M. Weinbaum, Harold J. Grigsby, John W. Watters, and Ellis H. Oiler to the board was brought before Council by Mayor Harold F. Robinson on request of the Hospital Commissioners.

Four other members of the Board of Governors will be appointed by the County Commissioners.

Early formation of the board has been urged by the Hospital Commissioners who are responsible only for the construction of the new building. Members of this group have discussed the appointment of an administrator for the new hospital and feel that many decisions which must be made during construction could best be made by the administrator who will be in charge of the hospital.

Since the administrator must be appointed by the Board of Governors, the Commissioners urged that both the Mayor and the Marion County Commissioners give their immediate attention to appointing four members from the city and four from the county to the Board of Governors.

In asking for the approval of his appointments to the Board, Mayor Robinson said he was trying to be as fair as possible by including representatives of the Jewish, Catholic, and Protestant faiths along with representatives of business, labor, medicine, and legal organizations.

Council, crippled by absence of three members, passed only one other piece of legislation last night but set two committee meetings and appointed a special committee to study other proposals.

The other legislation adopted was a resolution granting Charles Keuchler permission to construct storm and sanitary sewers on the east side of Cass Ave. to serve

Commissioners To Place Issues on Ballot for November Vote

Action to place three separate half-mill levies before the voters for their consideration in November was taken Monday by the Marion County Commissioners.

They signed resolutions authorizing the placement of these levies on the November ballots:

1. A levy, which would raise an estimated $50,000, for the construction, acquisition, and installation of an elevator in the Marion County Courthouse. This levy would appear on the tax duplicates for one year.

2. A levy, which would raise $150,000 over a period of three years, for the construction, reconstruction, enlargement, and extension of County buildings, and especially a hospital unit for the Marion County Home.

3. An operating levy, which is also anticipated to raise $150,000 in three years, aimed at covering anticipated increased current expenses for operation of the county.

Each of the three levies would cost taxpayers five cents for each $100 property valuation.

Considered of first importance by the commissioners is the second levy, which would enable them to construct hospital unit at the Marion County Home located east of Marion on Route 95.

Chairman Ray Reidenbaugh said that at the present time, bed-fast and sick residents of the home are housed in an inadequate hospital ward on the second floor of the building. In case of fire, it would be extremely difficult to assure

U.S. B-47 Bomber Posts New Record In Flying Atlantic

FAIRFORD AIR BASE, England (AP)—An American B47 stratojet bomber flashed across the Atlantic from the United States to England today in the record-shattering time of 4 hours and 45 minutes.

The sleek, sweptwing 6-jet atom bomber, called the world's fastest, whooshed from Limestone, Maine, Air Base to Fairford—a distance of 3,120 miles nonstop—at an average speed of about 609 miles an hour.

The flight clipped 37 minutes off the previous record of 5 hours, 22 minutes, set June 6 by another B47.

Second Fire In One Month Levels House

$2,500 Blaze Hits Blankenship Home; Was Damaged June 29

The second fire within a month to hit the Charles Blankenship residence on Route 30-S, at the west edge of the city, leveled the three-room house early this morning. Fire loss was estimated at $2,500 by Chief O. A. Sifritt.

Cause of the blaze, which destroyed the small house valued at $1,500 and nearly all its contents, was undetermined, the chief said. Only items saved from the fire was a rocking chair and bed clothing.

The fire was discovered about 12:51 a.m. when the youngest of the two Blankenship children woke the parents and a second child with its crying. Blankenship rushed to the rear of the house, which was in flames, and carried the two youngsters outside to safety. Blankenship's hair was singed as he carried the children from the house.

The building, which is owned by Herbert Yost, was at one time a filling station and had been converted into living quarters with the addition of two extra rooms.

By the time firemen from the W. Center St. and Central stations arrived at the scene, the house was enveloped in flames and was beyond the point of saving, Chief Sifritt said. The fire swept through the small building rapidly and was lapping at windows and doors when the fire engines arrived. Firemen were at the scene for two hours.

This morning's blaze was the second within the period of one month to hit the three-room building. On June 29, a $50 fire was extinguished by city firemen called out at 2:20 a.m. Fire Chief O. A. Sifritt stated the fire had deliberately been set with a oily

DeGasperi Government Collapses Again in Italy

ROME (AP) — Premier Alcide de Gasperi's eighth government fell today on a no confidence vote.

It was the first time the 72-year-old Christian Democrat leader suffered such defeat since he took the reins of Italy's government Dec. 10, 1945.

Sen. Taft Has Relapse, N.Y. Hospital Says

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft's physical condition "has deteriorated," New York Hospital announced today.

The Ohio Republican recently underwent an exploratory operation of the abdominal wall to investigate a hip ailment.

The announcement was the first that did not take an optimistic view of his condition.

It had been announced last week he would return to Washington on Wednesday. A statement from the hospital yesterday said only that his departure would be delayed.

"Sen. Taft's condition has deteriorated somewhat during the last 24 hours," the hospital bulletin said today.

'He is responding less well to treatment and is not taking food satisfactorily."

The hospital added no other bulletin would be issued today unless there was a serious change in the senator's condition.

He relinquished his duties as Senate majority leader to Sen. William F. Knowland, California Republican, to undergo treatment for what was described as a lesion in a hip bone.

U.N. Troops, Chinese Begin Pulling Back To Form Korean Buffer Zone

SEOUL (AP)—Allied and Communist armies today began pulling back front-line troops all across the shell-pocked Korean front.

United Nations forces, including South Korean troops, started withdrawing at daybreak. Chinese and North Korean Communist units were seen pulling back during the day.

Each side must withdraw two kilometers — about 1¼ miles—to form a demilitarized buffer zone across Korea.

Far behind Red lines, the Allies began evacuating islands of both the east and west coasts of North Korea. The islands had served as radar station points, ground control stations for air strikes against the Communists and for air-sea rescue operations.

In keeping with the armistice signed Monday, the battlefront withdrawal must be completed by 10 p. m. Thursday. The Allied-held islands must be evacuated by 10 p. m. Aug. 5.

In the early hours of the armistice no violations or incidents were reported. At the final 8th Army briefing of war correspondents, a staff officer said the last infantry action was a patrol clash at 2:55 a. m. Monday on the eastern front —some 19 hours before the truce became effective.

While Allied and Communist soldiers moved freely in the open Tuesday, the joint Allied-Communist Military Armistice Commission held its first meeting at Panmunjom to begin supervision of the truce.

Gen. Mark W. Clark, U. N. commander, completed signing copies of the truce document—those that had been taken north Monday and signed by the Red high command—and flew back to his Tokyo headquarters.

The U. N. Command armistice team, headed by Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison, was disbanded and the members and staff headed for other assignments. Harrison went to Tokyo with Clark to resume his job as Clark's chief of staff.

The 2½-mile-wide buffer zone will be marked off on its southern and northern boundaries with marker signs at numerous intervals and with ground panels for aerial observation.

On the Western Front, the U. S. 1st Marine Division began pulling back its front-line units at 6:30 a. m.

Marines quit their bunkers to give up many hard-won positions in the neighborhood of Bunker Hill and Outpost Berlin.

They took with them all equipment and timber and in some cases demolished the bunkers with explosives.

Marines reported that unarmed Chinese wandered through the new

Expect 2-Week Delays

Attempt at Accuracy Slows Casualty Reports

WASHINGTON (AP) — American families will be hearing for several days to come of men killed, wounded or missing in Korea, even though the fighting ceased yesterday morning.

The public will be reading the names of battle casualties in newspapers two or three weeks from now.

These delays are products of the military system which stresses accuracy above all else in dealing with human lives and of the official insistence that the families concerned must be the first to hear that anything has happened to their sons, husbands or brothers.

The average lag between the occurrence of a casualty on a field of battle and the receipt of the formal notification by his next of kin ranges from three to five days.

Such reports are first checked and rechecked in the unit to which the man was attached and then are relayed to the appropriate headquarters in Washington. Here formal telegrams are prepared and sent to the families, giving brief details and, in case the man is wounded, telling his next of kin where they can write to him.

A tentative battle casualty total for the Korean War will not be available for perhaps 10 days. The casualty reporting and publication system calls first for notification to the families. Thereafter, usually on Wednesdays, the Pentagon has issued a battle casualty summary based upon the numbers of official notifications to next of kin through the previous Friday.

Last Wednesday the cumulative total of casualties reported in the summary was 139,272. During the last 24 hours of the fighting in Korea, the Pentagon received reports of 350 additional killed, wounded and missing, but all of

The World Today

What Next for Korea?

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — That the Communists wanted truce in Korea was apparent. But why they wanted it, and what they hoped to get out of it, can only be guessed at. There has been a lot of guessing.

One thing is certain. Because they hold North Korea, they have an ace card in the diplomatic poker game—the peace talks—which begin within 90 days of the signing of the truce.

The United States and the United Nations want both parts of Korea unified. They didn't feel they could do it themselves by taking North Korea from the Chinese on the battlefield.

What they couldn't make the Chinese yield by force they will now ask the Chinese to give up by request, since there can be no unification unless the Red Chinese withdraw from North Korea.

This would be quite a request. The Chinese could hardly be expected to grant it unless they got in return something they prized more than North Korea. It may be wishful thinking that they would consider it at all.

Here in Washington there has been a belief that the Chinese might agree to unification of Korea if, among other things, they were admitted to membership in the United Nations.

But this country, backing Nationalist China, which is a U. N. member, has consistently opposed membership for Red China. Both houses of Congress have expressed opposition to such a move.

And Secretary of State Dulles has said the question of Red China's membership in the U. N. has no place in the peace talks about Korea. That might seem to slam the door on China's chances.

Not necessarily. Even with the United States opposed, it may yet turn out that Red China will get into the U. N. That problem could be handled at the U. N. instead of at the peace talks.

Since there can be no unification of Korea until the Chinese—and the United Nations—withdraw their troops from all Korea, the peace talks could limit themselves to the question of withdrawal only.

After the foreign troops leave, the Koreans—North and South—could hold a national election to choose a single government. But this by itself is such a complicated problem that solution of it seems unlikely soon.

For one thing, the South Koreans far outnumber the North Koreans now. If the election were between the forces of South Korean President Syngman Rhee and pro-Communist North Koreans, there wouldn't be much doubt about the outcome of all-Korea elections.

With the Chinese forces withdrawn and South Koreans elected to control of the country, what would be the fate of those North Korean Communists who had been faithful allies of Red China and enemies of South Korea?

Would Rhee permit them to roam around, reorganizing their party, first in North Korea, then infiltrating South Korea, and eventually trying to take over the country once more by force or subversion?

If China abandoned its Korean Communist allies to the mercies of South Korea, it would lose face with its Communist friends in the rest of Asia. It could, of course give the Korean Communists asylum in China.

Eventually these Korean Reds could filter back into Korea, set up an underground, and work for the overthrow of Rhee or, after his death, of his friends in control of the government.

Since the Chinese haven't tipped their hand yet, there can be nothing but guessing until they do.

TIMKEN LAYS OFF 600

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Timken Roller Bearing Co., blaming a general falling off in the automobile and other industries, says it has laid off 600 men here in the past two weeks and will lay off 300 more in Columbus, Timken President William E. Umstadt said the slackoff was not due to the Korean truce.

Man Recovers His Lost Monkey

BLUEFIELD, W. Va. (AP)—Eugene Tibbs and the beer-swigging monkey he calls "one of the family" were reunited here yesterday after a painful separation of more than six weeks.

To celebrate, they had a convivial bottle of beer together.

The monkey, Happy by name, got lost last month while swimming with Tibbs in Laurel Creek, just across the state border in Virginia. Some dogs chased him away.

Tibbs, "almost frantic," posted a reward. Subsequently, lots of people saw Happy, but nobody could hold her. Yesterday, though, two boys trapped the monkey in a smokehouse and returned her to the overjoyed Tibbs, who got her 16 years ago from animal man Frank Buck.

Allies Hold More Ground Than Reds

TOKYO (AP)—The cease-fire line across Korea gives the Allies a little more than twice as much of North Korea as the Communists have of South Korea, U. N. Command headquarters said today.

The Allies hold 2,054 square miles of ground north of Parallel 38, mostly on the eastern twothirds of the battleline. The Communists hold 975 square miles south of the parallel, in the Kaesong-Panmunjom-Haeju peninsula area on the west.

Only 21 Show Up At Church To Give Thanks for Truce

COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — Only 21 persons attended a widely publicized interdenominational prayer meeting in downtown Columbus to give thanks for the armistice in the Korean War.

The meeting, at Trinity Episcopal Church, was sponsored last night by the Columbus Council of Churches.

Rev. Floyd Faust, president of the council, said he expected 500 persons to attend. The meeting was given publicity by Columbus newspapers, radio stations and television outlets.

The Rev. Mr. Faust said the small turnout indicated people either were skeptical of the permanence of the truce or were indifferent to the war.

Alligator Problem For Nevada Governor

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP)—An alligator has upset the happy home life of Nevada Gov. Charles Russell.

He got the critter yesterday from the Arcadia, Fla., Chamber of Commerce in connection with a fund-raising stunt for the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund.

Like any good father, he took it home.

"My wife," he reported, "won't get within 10 yards of it, but 10-year-old Virginia wants to make a pet of it. I don't know what the outcome is going to be."

Helena, Mont., Is About To Lose Its Main Street

HELENA, Mont. (AP)—Montana's capital city is about to lose Main Street.

The Helena City Commission yesterday approved the change of the name of Main Street to Last Chance Gulch.

Opponents say the proposed name would be undignified. Others say tourists would get a kick out of the old name.

Gold was discovered 89 years ago along Last Chance Gulch.

Farmer Scares Off Plane With Shotgun

GOLDSBORO, N. C. (AP)—A man's gotta protect his interests

That's what a farmer near here did when a small plane buzzed his tobacco patch for the second time this week, causing his mules to run away.

The unidentified farmer consulted the sheriff first. When the plane returned, he picked up a shot gun and blasted away with both barrels at it.

The farmer retrieved his mules and resumed work.

He hasn't been bothered since.

Marines Get Last Laugh at Chinese

WESTERN FRONT, Korea (AP)—Marine Lt. Col. J. T. Hill got the last laugh on the Chinese today.

Hill's men were demolishing bunkers on Outpost Esther in the demilitarized zone from which they would have to withdraw under the truce line agreement.

A group of Chinese on a hill 100 yards away looked on and "laughed like hell," the Marines reported.

At noon today, Hill, commanding officer of the 3rd Battalion of the 5th Marines, sent his men a truck loaded with hot lunches on trays.

The Marines came out of their bunkers, sat down in full view of the Chinese to eat—and laughed at the Chinese.

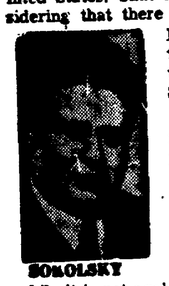
Churches and Probes By George Sokolsky

It is estimated that there are 250,000 Protestant ministers in the nited States. That seems low considering that there are something like 230 Protestant sects in the United States.



SOKOLSKY

An accurate figure is impossible because the Bureau of the Census may not collect such data on the theory that while it is not against the Constitution to know the cattle or goat population of the United States, something about the separation of church and state forbids getting exact figures on the religious life of our people.

Dr. J. B. Matthews, in his article in the "American Mercury," estimated that about 7,000 Protestant clergy were Communists, fellow-travellers or dupes.

THIS WOULD come to less than three per cent, which numerically is a tiny minority. Therefore the statement that Dr. Matthews accused "the Protestant clergy" of improper affiliations and activities is a lie devised for political purposes and to achieve an advantage.

The politicains who used a line out of an article to deny the remainder of the material probably had not read the article.

"The Dallas Morning News," in discussing this question, really answers it:

"American Protestantism can stand on its own feet. Its rank and file has no fears for itself . . ."

The Separatists who founded many of the colonies that eventually composed our nation and the Anglicans and Methodists, who became the major Protestant sects of our land, influenced American civilization to the extent that Christianity is not simply a matter of religion in the United States; its doctrines were incorporated in the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution.

THE FREE society which grew here over a period of three centuries recognizes not only the freedom of cult but the dignity of the individual man without any consideration for status.

In the American concept, based upon the fatherhood of God, all men are equal in the sense that all are children of God, from the lowliest up to the President.

In its practical application, this theory of life has protected us in our individual liberties; in politics, it has produced the assumption that governments exist by the consent of the governed, and therefore the legal restrictions upon the governed, in the right to vote under the Constitution, can only be age, residence and citizenship.

This concept of life is the antithesis of Marxism. The two ideas of life, Christianity and Marxism, are so opposite that no bridge can be built to unite them. Only conversion can produce a union, a total acceptance of one ideal or the other.

THE CONFUSION apparent in the thinking of some well-meaning clergymen arises from inadequate study.

They assume that Communism is all economics and that it is opposed to Capitalism which some of them also oppose in their search for social justice.

They ignore, however, the existence of a philosophic basis for Communist practices, namely, that Marxism holds to an exclusively biologic interpretation of man, rejecting as a mystical opiate the concept of God, of natural law, of worship, prayer, moral absolutes or any other religious ideas, ideals or practices.

Some clergymen believe that by displaying what they call a "just attitude" toward the Communists, they can eventually win them over to Christianity.

They are sure that orthodox Christianity, with deep roots in years, will revive and blossom. The Fatima movement among the Roman Catholics is premised on their certainty that Russia will be restored to Christianity.

NATURALLY, the Communists have probed the religious world for soft spots that might be infiltrated and for men who would accept their views.

The "Red Dean" of Canterbury is an instance. Dr. Matthews says that less than three per cent of the Protestant clergy in this country has been affected.

Considering all the work that the Communists have put into this effort, I should say that accepting the Matthews study on its face, the Communists have failed numerically; that Protestant Christianity in the United States has proved itself resistant to Communist infiltration. To that view, Matthews agrees.

Saying that is not sufficient. That less than three per cent is not only vocal but directed and create a furor which gives the impression of larger numbers and greater power than it really possesses.

For instance, I should like to understand, and frankly I do not understand it, why so many clergymen signed the various Rosenberg petitions which were definitely designed to be anti-American propaganda in Europe and Asia.

Morrow County Okays Home Agent Position

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD — Morrow County Commissioners have taken action to employ a home demonstration Agent for the county.

Commissioners made approximately $2,000 available for mileage and additional expense of the extension office beginning Jan. 1, 1954. Salary of the home agent will be paid by the state and federal governments.

Morrow County is now one of four in the state that does not have a home agent. When employed, the home agent will do agricultural extension work with the homemakers of Morrow County and will have charge of girl's 4-H Club activities. A home agent has never been employed in the county.

Comissioners allowed Fred Heimlich of near Cardington $25 for tile and repair of the Lindstedt ditch in Cardington Township.

Twilight Truce

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — The twilight war in Korea has come to a twilight truce.

The guns grumbled into silence, like the distant muttering of thunder in a darkening sky. After 37 months of sound and fury, the "Land of the Morning Calm" is quiet.

The worn soldiers on both sides have handed the Korean problem over to the diplomats, something they have wanted to do for more than two years. For to the fighting men the action of Korea was less of a war than an endless game of checkers played with bomb and bullet.

And now the world stands like a troubled child looking down a lonely road winding through a dusky forest — and wondering where the road will lead him. He knows the terror behind him, but he survived it. Does more peril or peace lie ahead.

Peace? What is it? They don't even dare use the word in cross word puzzles anymore, because nobody any longer is sure just what it is.

Nothing is quite as black or white as it used to be. We live in a gray time, where one thing merges inconclusively into another thing. You don't know when war ends, because you don't know when peace begins.

And that is the point upon which the world teeter-totters today. Both sides insist they went to war to preserve peace—a peace that to show how gray even language has become was known as "the cold war."

Now we are in another shade of gray that could best be termed "the hot truce." The human race is like Alice in Wonderland, but strolling along with an armload of hand grenades instead of pausing to pick daisies.

America will pick no daisies in Korea. It will probably pick up a multi-billion dollar rehabilitation bill eventually. That is the new theory of warfare. First you blow up a country. Then if you end up financially solvent, you repair it.

Few bells pealed here at the announcement of the truce signing. Joy was well confined. The feelings seemed to range from quiet thankfulness in the homes of soldiers to a wry dissatisfaction in the breasts of the fire - eating "let's - smother - 'em - with - the-atom - bomb" advocates.

The armistice of 1953 stirred none of the jubilation of the armistice of 1918 or the surrenders of 1945. But there is no reason why it should. In the first and second world wars our men fought in hatred and broke the power of the symbols of that hatred—the Kaiser and Adolph Hitler.

But they went to war in Korea regretfully. They fought for a principle rather than against a symbol. They haven't broken the back of communism, but they have made it retreat into its backyard—and kept it there.

No one can tell today whether the truce is only a breathing spell, or marks the slow withdrawal of the tidal wave of communism. It is hard to tell exactly the turning of a tide in human affairs.

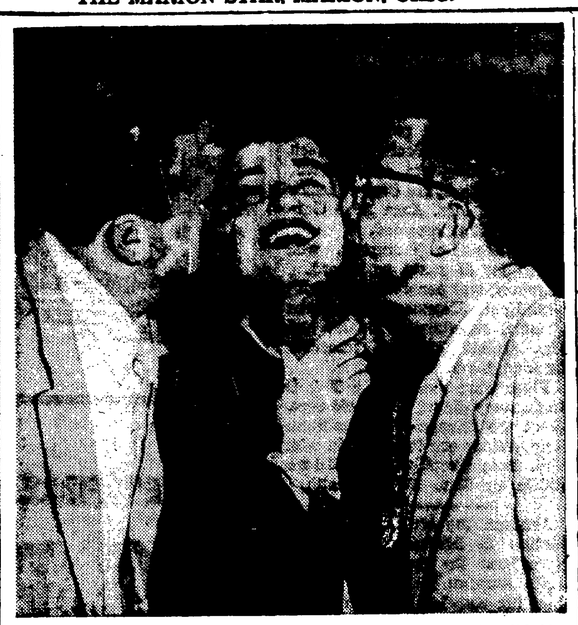
But Korea marked the successful effort of one group of people to keep their system intact from another group of people trying to extend their system by force. Communism certainly got a blacker eye than Democracy from this bitter experience.

At the worst the free world has gained from these three years time to get ready. At the best it may have brought closer to realization mankind's oldest dream—a warm and lasting peace, a world linked in friendship instead of locked in hatred.

It has taught us as a people to be more understanding of the plight of nations less fortunate than we are. It has given immortal proof that the young men of this generation are no less resolute and disciplined in defense of a principle than the generation which founded a free America.

And as a nation perhaps we have learned one thing more. In world politics, when you pick up the policeman's club—well, it isn't easy to put it down again, turn in your badge and retire from the force.

When Mount Katmai in Alaska erupted in 1912 all life was wiped out over a wide area—trees, grass, fish, birds and animals. There was no human beings in the area.



A WELCOME HOME kiss is given Arlene Migacz, 18, at Idlewild Airport, N. Y., by her two brothers, Joseph (left) and Arthur of Chicago. Arlene fled from her Communist parents after four years in Red Poland and reached safety in Denmark. She was taken to Poland in 1949 by her parents who attempted to convert her to Communism.

Inside Labor

Need Propaganda

By Victor Riesel

PARIS — Even if the top tovarischi in the Kremlin kill each other off at a very satisfactory rate, it will do the U.S. little good in Europe unless we get into the propaganda business on a tough, mass basis.

RIESEL

Otherwise, we're wasting our time, our millions, our homesick GIs and some very expensive tanks, jets and anti-aircraft guns.

This is where the guns and tanks should be, of course, but somebody has got to convince the Frenchmen to handle the guns and tanks if trouble starts. Right now we've not convinced the French people of anything.

The United States — the world's greatest nation of salesmen — has been outsold by the Russian apparat. And here's why:

In 1952, the French Communist Party and its labor front spent $36.8 million on anti-American propaganda alone.

THIS YEAR, according to a report sent secretly to his superiors by a M. LeBrun, the Communist labor research chief, the apparat will require $41.3 million.

The additional millions are needed to cover up the East German and satellite workers' uprising and the head cracking in the Kremlin. The party's agitation-propagandists certainly will get the increased budget.

As for us, the MSA had exactly $17 million to spend for all of Europe and Scandinavia. And there are only some 40 Americans and 150 Europeans to handle our "information campaign."

Just compare this with the 13,000 full-time employes of the French Communist party; the 14,000-man staff of the Communist fronts; the 170-180 party publications; the 50 radio technicians who have 74 secretaries; the 30,776,000 copies per month distributed by the Communist press; the 11,200,000 Communist leaflets and posters; and the 11,500,000 Communist union documents distributed since Jan. 1st, 1953.

FURTHERMORE the party can put 100,000 storm troopers into the street any day they're signalled by Moscow for an anti-American demonstration.

Most of these hard core comrades come out of the labor underground. This is an apparat with 6,927 factory cells and 21,226 local cells which have 2,500 full-time propaganda agitators constantly whipping up all of France's working class.

What do we do? We issue slick covered, luxurious stuff and talk way over the people's heads.

Most of our American "propagandists" know few Frenchmen and even less French. When our Embassy wanted some propaganda material translated they had to go outside the white-walled compound for some one who could handle the subtleties of this particular paper.

Even our meagre counter propaganda on the atomic-spy executions was put out in a mimeographed ENGLISH bulletin.

But the Comintern CAN be fought effevtively.

IF ONE of President Eisenhower's aides will fly here and drive (if he survives Parisian traffic) over to the left bank and search out a carefully guarded little mansion at 167 Rue Universite, he'll see a handful of men take on the whole comintern machine.

The House is on one of those tree-shaded, narrow alleys which take just one car at a time. No speeding auto can whiz by, leaving dynamite sticks as visiting cards. In front of one section is a big dog it is unadvisable to tempt. To keep the peace, the Paris police chief, one of the best in Europe, has assigned a gendarme who sits daily in a concrete, one-man guard has assigned a gendarme who sits daily in a concrete, one-man guard post just five yards from the entrance.

Inside, guards roam the building. Visitors are carefully checked. Doors of each room are doubled—the outside one being padded so no voices can be overheard.

FOR HERE is the headquarters of "Paix et Liberte." Its huskies are amongst the only friends we have in France today.

When the rioting started in Germany, they teamed up in pairs and took chances on being killed in the not so gay Parisian streets by Commie goon squads.

These pairs plastered anti-Communist signs all over Paris saying, "The Workers Wanted Peace — The Russians Gave Them Eternal Peace" — by killing others.

Other signs said: "The Red Army Is Shooting Workers Down In East Berlin." Each day our friends live in danger while they wait for the proper psychological moment to jab satirically at the Russian agitation-propagandists.

Some day, some of our friends will die for us and for the cause of real peace and liberty.

MEANWHILE they have pushed the Commies back a little.

In Paris, the Communist party lost 20,000 votes in last April's elections.

The circulation of the Communist press is down.

Some of the party's 135 fronts are being laughed out of existence.

We sit by, letting others take it on the skull for us. It's time we moved, too.

The Russians do it openly. Why can't we?

Morrow County Budget Hearing Held Monday

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD—Budget for Morrow County for next year was completed last week by Morrow County Commissioners. Hearing on the budget was held this Monday morning at the commissioner's office in the court house.

Estimated receipts in the general fund are down slightly while estimated expenditures are up somewhat the report shows.

Total receipts in the general fund are expected to be $212,192.19 compared to $218,593.76 for the present year. Making the big difference is an anticipated balance in the county treasury at the 1 of this year of about $9,000 less than at the end of last year's operation. Total expenditures from the general fund are expected to be $195,384.57 next year compared to total expenditures for the present year of $188,801.57.

Figures on expected expenses and receipts for the Morrow County Hospital show that the hospital might go into the red by about $21,088.81 during the next year of operation. The hospital had a balance of $24,398.60 at the start of the year and receipts for the first six months totaled $79,970.92. Receipts for the last six months are expected to be about the same to make total receipts of $184,240.44.

Expenses anticipated during the next year are as follows: administration, $22,669.77; dietary, $30,913.32; housekeeping, $20,608.88; utilities, $12,365.32; nursing, $82,435.52; and maintenance, X-ray, pharmacy and anaesthesia, $37,096; making a total of expected expenses of $206,088.81. Expenditures for the board of Commissioners, court house and jail, county home, county welfare, and for the running of nearly all county offices are expected to be about the same as during the past year.

The county extension office was alloted an additional $2,000 for the hiring of a Home Demonstration Agent and anticipated expenditures of the County Board of Elections is up because 1954 will have a general election and primary whereas this year did not have a primary and only local elections.

Anticipated receipts for county highway purposes are down slightly with $297,071.15 expected to be received next year compared to $298,411.15 this year. Total expenditures will be slightly more than this year. Maintenance of roads is expected to cost $110,000 and construction and material, $145,000 for the two major expenses out of $277,000 of expected expenditures.

Some of the paint which was applied in 1300 is still on England's coronation chair.

No Proof Needed

Everybody lost the war in Korea. That fact will emerge in due time, when the cover-up artists and propagandists have run out of deception.

The deception will consist of tireless recitals of what this side or that side won in Korea.

The United Nations side won a victory for its promise that aggressors would be punished.

Military strategists won a victory for their position that the Communist sphere of influence must not be allowed to include the Korean peninsula lest the Japanese islands be made untenable for anti-Communist forces.

The Red Koreans and the Red Chinese won a victory for oriental prestige in a battle with occidental militarists.

The Kremlin conspirators won a victory for their policy of using Asiatics in the momentous drive to weaken the anti-Communist bloc.

But no one won the war.

Everybody lost.

The Koreans lost most. Their country is devastated and disorganized. They will have to deal with the seeds of hatred and political revolution which have fallen on fertile soil.

The Chinese who were sent across the Yalu River in the guise of volunteers paid a crushing penalty for their service under the Red flag.

The Russians, suppliers of material and makers of policy, will have to reach an accounting with their new Asiatic allies who supplied the hundreds of thousands of troops killed in a war that couldn't be won and finally had to be lost. They may have lost a historic opportunity.

The United Nations staggers away from this first hard test of its ability to provide cooperative security with its prestige battered and bent. It did not fail utterly, but it did not register a triumph.

And the United States, counting its new war dead, its mounting deficits and its mounting doubts, can point only to one fact for comfort:

It did what apparently it had to do under the circumstances when the war began in Korea; it went to war against the aggressors and tried to gain allies to help it defend South Korea. Thereafter, it did nothing in a way that gave it or its allies any satisfaction, including the ridiculously long negotiations which finally brought about a shaky and uncertain truce.

No proof was needed that war has become a cruel and bitter disappointment as an instrument of national policy. World War II had removed whatever doubts were left after World War I, and World War III, if it happens, will clinch the proposition.

There is one gain, as far as the United States is concerned.

No one believes after this war that peace will ensue automatically. There is to be no disarmament — no falling back on the fairy-tale supposition that at long last Americans will be undisturbed in their tireless pursuit of happiness.

The world does not work that way. It never did, though many of us used to think it did.

The war-makers, in all probability, will break out again in the near future, and when they do they must be resisted with all the energy and resources necessary to make them aware that aggression no longer pays, if it ever did.

Aid for Korea

President Eisenhower's prompt request for a $200 million Korean relief fund is a well-timed gesture which may be expected to have an effect on President Syngman Rhee.

The aged leader of the Republic of South Korea will have his troubles with civil and military discipline in the days and weeks ahead. The United States will have its troubles, too, since it is the only effectual disciplinary force outside the ROK army.

There exists a tragic possibility that trouble behind the lines might further complicate the problems that have developed inside their strange alliance of Asiatics with the United States and its allies.

It is understood that the United States, for its part, will abandon to the South Koreans vast stores of equipment and supplies, changing the cost to the war itself. The $200 million relief fund requested by President Eisenhower would be in addition to this treasure.

If all goes well, the upshot of the arrangement would be a strong South Korean army, possessing enough equipment to give it the kind of security which it should have been given before the United States abandoned it to the wolves of Communism four years ago.

When the last U. S. troops sailed from Inchon on June 29, 1949, fighting already was taking place between its 65,000-man constabulary and North Korean troops. The country was in political and economic turmoil.

Never was a dependent country left in worse condition. A few more millions will be a drop in the bucket compared with the $15 billion which the United States has spent since June 1950 to undo the damage of its desertion of South Korea in 1949.

Bells Toll for Whom?

By David Lawrence

History Tells Us War Follows Appeasement

For whom do the bells toll? They are ringing out in several cities on our side as a truce is signed in Korea. They are ringing out also in Communist lands where their cry is: "We won. We won!"

Do the bells toll for Syngman Rhee? His ill - fated country may soon be handed over to the Communists probably by those same tactics of an enforced "coalition" —of Communists and non - Communists — which betrayed Nationalist China even as it ruined freedom in Poland, Hungary, Czechoslovakia and the other states where millions of people now are enslaved.

Already the delegations to sit at the "political conference" are being selected from countries that did little or no fighting in the Korean War or were unsympathetic to the idea of a military victory.

Do the bells toll for Gen. MacArthur? He believed, in accordance with tradition, that when American boys are taken from their homes to die they should be permitted to fight the enemy with maximum military force.

He didn't think they should be restrained by hamstringing orders imposed by governments which furnished no sizable proportion of the troops.

So the idea of "military victory" for the West died with the dismissal of MacArthur.

The third largest international war in our history is not ending in military victory, because two years ago the greatest soldier of modern times was summarily stripped of his command to the delight of the enemy and the applause of some of our faithless allies.

Do the bells toll for the United Nations? The leaders of this organization, created to do what the League of Nations failed to do—to establish a firm alliance of peace - loving nations dedicated to the principle of "collective security" — marched up the hill and then down again.

The U.N. Assembly adopted on October 7, 1950, a resolution calling on its armies to establish conditions of stability "throughout Korea." Then, when the government of Red China intervened and our forces were prevented by our own orders from attacking the air bases beyond the Yalu on Chinese territory, the same United Nations drew back and within six months — after a public plea for a truce at the 38th Parallel uttered first by Secretary Acheson in May, 1951 — Malik of Russia accepted in June, 1951, our overtures for peace, and the armistice talks began.

Do the bells toll for the 25,000 dead Americans and for the 115,000 casualties who have lived to see their sacrifices ignored?

The "political conference" soon to be dragged out for months and months and then abandoned in another stalemate will finally answer this question.

The record to date indicates that what could not be accomplised by military force will never be consummated by conversation at the conference table when the only language the Communists have ever understood — military force —is now to be discarded for the language of supplication.

The U.N. will beg for peace terms that will never be granted. The U.N. started out on the 38th Parallel "to repel aggression" but the armies of the U.N. and the Communists are in approximately the same position today except that the Communists now have 1,000,000 Chinese "volunteers" occupying the area north of the 38th Parallel as a threat to South Korea.

Unless troops of the U.N.—which means American troops—are kept on guard in Korea indefinitely, the Communists will swallow up South Korea any time they wish to do so.

Do the bells toll for a joyous peace — one that will prevent the big world war everybody has dreaded?

Past history tells us it will not —that every appeasement has been followed by war.

The word "truce" is well chosen. It is a "truce." For the big fight is to come next — after a pause during which time our Allies will insist on exporting munitions, raw materials, machinery, and other strategic articles.

This will help build the war machine of the enemy — Communist imperialism — for the war some day to be launched against the free world. Then the casualties could be many times larger than what they would have been if the Allies had fought wholeheartedly for a military victory in Korea in 1951.

For whom do the bells really toll? The bells toll for the dupes and the gullible — for the large number of us who cheered the Munich "truce" and then wept less than ten months later as Hitler marched into Poland and brought on a world war.

Plot Afoot

By TRUMAN TWILL

Someone was asking what became of this column's set-jaw policy against picnics. Nothing had been said here against picnics all summer, it was pointed out.

There was nothing to be said that hadn't been said before. Picnics are for the birds. They are for the birds. They are for the ants and foolish women who like to stuff eggs. They are for addle-pated men who put on funny clothes and cook food over outdoor fires.

That's why there is a new picnic table at the Twillery. It's a plot to show up the jug-headedness of picknickers. Besides the Twillery has no dining room worthy of the name.

The picnic table will seat a dozen miserable specimens who have been lured, dragooned, coerced and bulldozed into eating out of doors. That is more than can be seated in the tiny space now available for dining.

They will darned quickly get tired of flies, ants, bees and low-flying birds. They will get tired of sudden storms, vagrant breezes, dust, leaves and evening chills.

They will ruminate about how much better everything would be if it were under shelter. That is when a tent will be purchased, to put over the picnic table.

Then they will grouse about taking down the tent and storing the table when it is too cold to have picnics. They will point out that the tent is unsightly and incongruous, since it is a permanent fixture.

That is when a carpenter will be retained to put up a permanent structure to house the picnic table. That is when the picknickers will begin to wise up to the fact it would be a good idea to build a wing on the house to take care of the picnic table.

Eventually, everything will be made snug and shipshape. The picnic table will yield to a regular table and chairs, with cushions on the seat. The stuffed eggs will yield to scrambled, fried and poached eggs.

Life will be lovely.

No one will suggest any more picnics because it will be so much handier to stay inside, close to running water, stoves, shelter and the comforts of home.

Old-timers will reminisce about the bad old days when everybody was made miserable by eating outside—the bad old days before the new picnic table was made the starting point for a new wing on the house.

That is why nothing has been said here lately about picnics. There is a slippery plot afoot. But now the ants are out of the anthills and the mosquitoes are out of the woods. There is nothing to hide but the stains the overheated potato salad left on a pair of new slacks.

In 10 more years the cycle will have run its course and the family will be back under shelter where it was when all this picnic madness seized it. It will be ready to flee back indoors and take advantage of the facilities acquired by the human race after aeons of relentless opposition from the kind of people who would rather eat a bologna sandwich under a bush than a thick beefsteak under soft lights.

The Marion House was located on the present site of the Milner Hotel, formerly the Pilgrim Inn. Cyrus B. Mann was the host in 1837. He was succeeded by Mr. Young and he by John Search who died of cholera in 1854. Fred Freese, who then became the proprietor, added another story and changed its name to American House. In 1873 the American House was torn down and a four-story brick building was erected by Robert Kerr. It was opened as a hotel April 13, 1873 by J. Cochran who kept it until 1877 when Joseph Johnson took possession.

Modern Smart-Aleckism

The Words in Your Hand

By Bob Considine

(Mr. Considine is a Roving Correspondent for International News Service).

Came face to face with a genuine miracle today. Opened the door of my house and there at my feet lay an object which, when unfolded, brought the whole world before my eyes. It was a world of war and peace, high resolve and despair, love and hate, tears and laughter — and it was all there before me.

This miraculous object was easy to lift. Its leaves were easy to turn. Yet once it had been a massive part of a tree in Canada or Sweden, a tree that had needed years to grow. The tree was felled at the proper moment, stripped of its bark by intricate devices, pulled through forests, transported down rivers, fed into the maw of a mill, mixed with strange chemicals and metamorphosed into paper.

There were words on these folded sheets of paper I found at my door. And pictures to explain the words. Here, to make these words and pictures visible and enduring, a substance named ink had been introduced — a substance made of a varnish prepared from linseed oil, resin and soap, to which the proper pigment had been added and the lot ground to a great fineness in a levigating mill.

The infinite tragedy of war in Korea came to me, snug in my home, through the intercession of a reporter who had studied and worked for years to obtain his job, and who drank in his impression only by living with the muddied warriors and sharing their terror and bravery.

His story had been shouted into a crackling field phone, or tapped out in a battered press hostel, moved to a seething place named Pusan or a broken one named Seoul, flung across the sea of Japan by the confounding miracle of radio, revised in Tokyo, then hurled on.

In San Francisco it had been further polished and placed on a "printer," and fed electronically to hundreds of outlets at 60 words a minute. Then it had been taken off the machine, edited, interpreted in headlines that contained the spaces, reduced to metal, pressed against a yielding pulpy sheet named a matrix, which in turn gave birth to its image in metal, attached to a printing press that cost a million dollars, inked and wedded to an endless sheet of surging paper.

It had been bound, transported in trucks, trains, planes, earmarked for me for a few pennies, and put at my door by a lad I've never seen.

The world unfolded. From Moscow there was word that deeply affected me, an intra-mob fight in the Kremlin — where previous machinations had brought to mankind an incomparable scourge, and had caused us of the free world to teeter on the brink of bankruptcy.

Puzzled by the significance of the strife, I turned to a story written by a man who had lived in Russia and who knew the purgers and the purged. And from there to stories of what the great ones had said of all this, in London, Paris, Washington, Ottawa, Mexico City, Melbourne, Manila, Rio de Janeiro, Johannesburg. . .

But there was so much more. There was word of the progress of the latest political revolution in our own country, of changes in the law of the land, the cost of continuing to be a citizen, the cost of a skyscraper and of a pat of butter.

Some of my future was being shaped in Washington and some of it in Panmunjom, and yet I knew it almost instantly — its scope and meaning — and, being a person who employs these representatives by my vote, I could begin to decide then and there whether to dismiss them or retain them in office.

There was news of the atom, our smallest weapon, and of the projected carrier, our largest. The miracle in my hand took me through the Brandenburg Gate in Berlin and showed me the wrath of risen slaves. It let me into the study of Marshal Tito. I was with Adlai Stevenson in Vienna and Dwight Eisenhower in drought-stricken Texas, and with Cambodian Premier Penn Nouth in Saigon. And Marilyn Monroe in Hollywood.

I left London with the Queen of Tonga, was in the hospital with Senator Taft, and helped lasso a Hereford bull in the streets of Charlotte, N. C. I went to a stylish first night on Broadway, and to a couturier's opening in Paris.

My ball club won, my comic hero was saved in the nick of time, my wife learned how to cook and make over the entire house, my two shares of stock would stand the impact of peace, my fear of polio dispelled by gamma globulin, my slice could be cured by a change of grip.

All through the miracle I held in my hand (and had come to accept as routine) — my newspaper.

Missionary, 1953 Model

By MARK DANA

Distressing conditions during the last two years in China and Korea, formerly a focal point of missionary work, have been doubly distressing to religious organizations which in these two countries have seen the fruits of their long labors almost nullified by pagan activities expressed in war and persecution.

Even so, a new report shows that 18,000 Protestant missionaries from the U. S. are still serving abroad. The Division of Foreign Missions of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A., which has issued the report, reminds that before 1949, 25 per cent of this country's Protestant missionaries were serving in China. Today, the percentage has dropped to four—and all are in Hong Kong and Formosa.

The impression lingers among many people, including aspiring religious workers themselves, that practically the sole activity of missionaries is luring the heathen from their present religions, if any, to Christian faith. The present report reminds that of the 18,000 serving in other lands, 42 are physicians, 1,208 are nurses, 64 are medical technicians, 137 are agricultural and rural experts, and 140 are social service and philanthropic workers.

It is obvious that missionaries do much more than preach and teach native children to sing hymns with or without the aid of a portable reed organ, in the common and disconcerting caricature of the movies. Nearly half of the list tabulated in this report have been serving in Africa, Latin America and the West Indies. One third have been serving in East Asia, India and Pakistan.

Educators establish and maintain schools, helping old and young among their charges to improve their manual skills as well as extend their intellectual horizons much as is attempted in American schools. Anybody reasonably familiar with actual missionary practices also knows what is done in the way of public health, in infant and child care in agricultural instruction, along with factors of morality.

Young men and women in colleges today planning to become missionaries are required to become trained in practical skills. It is still a life of consecrated altruism, yet from Greenland's icy mountains to India's coral strands the urgent needs of marginal populations are material as well as spiritual. It is cheering to be reminded that, where permitted, these needs are being met in fruitful balance.

Transport Crisis

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Rio de Janeiro is attempting to ease its transportation problem by authorizing taxis to become "jitneys" during rush hours. The municipality has granted taxi drivers permission to carry passengers from the center of the city to the suburbs during the noon and evening rush hours. The price will be a flat five cruzeiros. Another plan under consideration is to authorize private car owners to perform the same service. Since the city depends entirely on surface transportation, some workers have to wait as long as two hours before finding even standing room in an onmibus.

News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO — It was Wednesday, July 28, 1943.

Unconfirmed reports received at the Italian frontier today said an insurrection among the people, verging on revolution, had broken out at Milan. Mobs swept through the streets, despite a state of siege proclaimed by the military authorities, shouting "Liberty," and "We Want Peace," the reports said.

Boldly defying Hitler's fading air strength, swarms of American Flying Fortresses flew unescorted and in broad daylight to within 80 miles of Berlin to smash the Nazi aircraft plant at Oschersleben.

Twenty of the 22 persons aboard an American Airlines passenger plane were killed when the big transport ran into unfavorable weather, crashed and burned near Trammel, Ky., about 20 miles southeast of Bowling Green.

Miss Ruth Neilsen Becomes Bride of Harold Prettyman

In the Kirkpatrick Church of Christ on Sunday, July 19, Miss Ruth Lyon Neilsen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Lyon, of near Marion, became the bride of Harold Lee Prettyman. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold N. Prettyman, 209 Elm St.

The double ring ceremony was read at 3 o'clock in the afternoon by the pastor, the Rev. R. F. Strickler. Nuptial music was by Mrs. Howard Hinamon, pianist, and Mrs. Harold Ludwick, vocalist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a street-length dress of white linen, with a V-shaped neckline with wing collar and wing cuff sleeves. The princess style waistline ended at the hipline with a cuff band, and the skirt was accordion pleated. She combined with this white accessories and wore a double strand choker of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom. She carried a white Testament, a gift of her parents, topped with a white orchid.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was her sister, Miss Helen Lyon. She wore a pink linen dress styled similar to that of the bride with a small white hat and white summer jewelry. She carried a fan-shaped bouquet of gladioli showered with streamers.

Lighting the candles was Miss Jean Lyon, another sister of the bride, who wore a dress of white eyelet embroidery with a pearl choker and bracelet, gifts of the bride, and a corsage of pink roses.

L. Gene Roberts served as best man for the bridegroom, and ushers were Gerald L. Armstrong, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Harold B. Ludwick, brother-in-law of the bride.

$1,500 in Grants Received

Four Marion Physicians Work on Heart Research

Grants totaling $1,500 for research into heart disease by four Marion doctors have been made by the Central Ohio Heart Association to the Marion City Hospital and the Frederick C. Smith Clinic.

Largest of the two grants was $1,000 allocated to the Smith Clinic for research in surgery of the heart and large blood vessels of the chest. Dr. Phillip Smith, Dr. Hugh Cregg, and Dr. Charles Wilson are working on this project.

A grant of $500 to City Hospital is for research by Dr. William B. Leffler into the problem of restoring the heartbeat when it stops during surgery or for other reasons. Presently this is accomplished by opening the chest and massaging the heart until it begins beating again. The nature of the research by Dr. Leffler is to study use of a new machine called a "Defribrillator and Artificial Pace Maker" to restore the heart beat in such cases without necessity of opening the chest.

At Smith Clinic, Drs. Smith, Cregg, and Wilson are studying and developing a new method to help determine the exact trouble with the heart and large blood vessels of the chest prior to an operation.

Present methods are not always adequate for diagnosis, and in both congenital and acquired disorders of these structures it is desirable to know exactly what is wrong if corrective surgery is to be applied.

Working on the problem for the past nine months, the three physicians have developed a method by which they may visualize the various chambers of the heart and the large arteries carrying blood to and from the heart.

The method they use, which has been used successfully on humans but is still highly specialized and experimental, involves injecting an iodine-containing solution directly into the heart and taking immediate X-rays to show the distribution of the dye.

The doctors are now experimenting further with the method to determine if it is practical for use in clinical practice. If they succeed in developing it to this point, the test will become a supplement to present procedures of studying heart disease.

Purpose of this additional test is to provide surgeons with another means of visualizing exactly what must be done to correct various disorders. After development is completed it may become practicable for use by any heart specialist with the necessary knowledge to use the test properly. In itself, it requires no special equipment other than a specific type of syringe for injecting the solution into the heart. However, Dr. Smith pointed out that complete visualization of the heart disorder by the attending physician will still require the use of other special equipment such as the cardiograph.

These grants are part of $44,821.55 allocated in Central Ohio for research into the causes and treatment of diseases of the heart by the Central Ohio Association, an affiliate of the American Heart Association. Funds for these grants were contributed from 51 counties.

The Heart Association is sponsored in Marion by the Business and Professional Women's Club, and is one of the member organizations of United Appeals of Marion County.

Thousands To Regain Ballot

Voting Laws Relaxed in Ten States

CHICAGO (AP)—State legislatures have taken action to provide votes for thousands of Americans who have been unable to go to the polls because of the tempo of modern life.

These people have the right to vote because they are 21 or over and are citizens. But thousands of them didn't get a chance to vote for president last year because on election day they were away from home or had just moved from one state to another.

Thousands of others laid up by illness or injury on election day also were unable to vote.

A survey by The Associated Press shows lawmakers in at least 10 states took votes-for-the voteless action during the series of sessions that has just ended.

Laws permitting the sick or disabled to vote by absentee ballot were enacted in Kansas, Indiana, Utah and West Virginia.

South Carolina gave absentee voting privileges to men and women in the armed services and citizens in the foreign service, the merchant marine, the Red Cross and the USO.

Absentee ballots in primary elections in North Carolina, already available to servicemen, will be offered to the wives of GI's, to civilian employes of the military forces stationed outside the United States, and to veterans in government hospitals.

Maine's absentee voter law, which already provides ballots for citizens who are ill or out of town on election day, was broadened to allow absentee voting by persons who won't go to the polls on election days which fall on religious holdays.

Uncounted thousands in these days of shifting population have been disfranchised temporarily by "residence regulations"—rules that you can't vote until you have lived in a state for a stipulated length of time.

These "forgotten folks" of election day have been remembered in several states.

Connecticut gave voters the opportunity to vote by absentee ballot in presidential elections for periods up to 15 months after they move from Connecticut—if they have not become voters in their new home states.

A new law permits persons who have just moved to Wisconsin to vote for president by filing proof they were legal voters in the states where they had lived.

The North Carolina Legislature endorsed a proposed amendment to the State Constitution which would reduce from four months to 30 days the time a person must live in a precinct to be eligible to vote. The proposition will be submitted to voters.

The New York Legislature eliminated an old requirement that a person who wanted to cast an absentee ballot had to appear before a notary public or other official to obtain acknowledgement of his signature.

New York's lawmakers also approved a proposed state constitutional amendment to permit citizens to obtain absentee ballots without registering personally if they are unable to appear because of illness or physical disability or because their duties require them to be outside the state. The amendment, to be effective, must be approved by the 1955 Legislature and later by the voters.

Wyoming—this one is different—amended its election law to permit free transportation of voters to and from the polls by political parties or by civic organizations interested in getting out a large vote.

Fifteen states had preferential primaries in 1952. The citizens vote for their favorite on a preference ballot or vote for delegates to their party's national convention who favor the candidate they prefer. In some states they can do both.

Two more states are getting into this big pre-convention act. And more may follow.

Indiana recently established a presidential preference primary. Under the new law the delegates will be bound to vote for the winner but only on the first ballot.

A new law in Nevada sets up a presidential preference test. It provides for the popular election of national convention delegates pledged to specific candidates.

Carey Pilgrimages To Draw Crowds During August

Special to The Star

CAREY — August pilgrimages to the Shrine of Our Lady of Consolation here are expected to again draw thousands of persons.

In May and August of each year, especially on the days of large pilgrimages, crowds estimated at more than 10,000 visit the Shrine. Long trains and chartered buses and cars bearing license plates from surrounding states file into Carey. The pilgrims, representing most of the nationalities, come for a day of prayer and devotion. They attend one of the many Masses, go to confession in their native tongue, take part in the colorful candlelight procession on the night of August 14 and gather for afternoon devotions on other days. A pilgrimage is held every Sunday during August.

The Most Reverend George J. Rehring, S. T. D., Bishop of Toledo, will take part on the August 14 candlelight procession and conduct the benediction.

The Shrine of Our Lady of Consolation at Carey, founded in 1875, is a replica of the famous European statue in Luxemburg.

To accommodate the large number of pilgrims, giant pavilions and rest rooms have recently been completed in the shrine's spacious park.

Although Baltimore and Washington are only 38 miles apart, it is cheaper to transport gasoline by water 200 miles on Chesapeake Bay and the Potomac than by road.

Truce Brings Challenge

Business Fights Slump

NEW YORK (AP)—The American business system takes on a new challenge today. Can it keep good times rolling along without shooting war, an ever-swelling defense spending program, and a military demand for its manufactured goods and natural resources?

Some businessmen fear the Korean truce will push along a slump they see already in the making. More, however, argue the long hoped - for cease-fire can have only a temporary effect—and one whose stinger has already been pulled by long anticipation and discounting.

The current business boom got a big boost from the Korean War. To meet both the military and civilian demand, industry expanded its plant and equipment at the fastest rate in history.

Prices went skittering upward. So did wages. Output of goods and services climbed sky-high. The national total of personal incomes rose to a new peak. So did the cost of living. The dollar's spending power looked pretty sick at times. Taxes soared higher and higher.

But while the Reds delayed the truce negotiations with yakety-yaking, two things happened to this war-inspired business boom: 1. Industrial production capacity caught up, in most cases, with demand for both military and civilian goods, and so the pressure on prices eased; 2. The defense spending program — slightly toned down from first estimates and slowed down from its first hurry-up timetable — took on a semi-permanent look.

Businessmen, like all other Americans, are now pretty much aware that the nation will go on spending at a fairly high rate for defense for some time to come. That means that some businesses will have a fairly steady customer in Uncle Sam. It also means all Americans will have a fairly high tax drain to face.

Many feel the Korean truce will act as a brake on government spending as time goes on since it soft-pedals the immediate necessity. But few feel a truce in Korea assures a peace there or any dependable sign of a let-up in the cold war elsewhere.

Immediate fears of business now are: 1. That to meet the military demand for industrial capacity some industries may have built more plants than they can keep busy; 2. That the buying public may feel that a real peace is on the way and that prices may come down — and therefore stop buying for awhile. This would endanger the record high inventories that some industries have built up, and the record debt — governmental, corporate and individual — would be a problem in a slump.

Cod Catch Reported Slackening at Cape Cod

WOODS HOLE, Mass. (AP)—The cod have just about deserted Cape Cod.

The cod catch off the cape is now running fifth in value behind haddock, redfish, sea herring and lobsters.

Research biologist Clyde C. Taylor of the North Atlantic Fishery Investigations says it's because cape waters are getting warmer and the cod likes cold seas.

Army Revises Its System of Troop Rotation

Korea Duty Tour To Be 16 Months Beginning Oct. 1

TOKYO (AP)—The U. S. Army today announced a new rotation system which will make the normal tour for all soldiers in Korea 16 months beginning Oct. 1.

The tour for U. S. soldiers in The Philippines will be 24 months.

Married soldiers in Okinawa who have their families with them and unmarried soldiers will serve 30 months, and personnel in Okinawa whose dependents do not accompany them will serve 20 months.

In Japan, soldiers accompanied by dependents and unmarried soldiers will serve 36 months, while soldiers whose dependents do not accompany them will serve 24 months.

In the past, rotation has been on a system of "points" for "constructive months service."

A soldier at the front got four points a month while a soldier in a rear area in Korea got two.

The new system of 16 months in Korea will send the rear area soldier home sooner but the soldier who would have been at the front lines will have to stay in Korea longer.

Before, a soldier who spent all of his service at the front could go home in nine months, or after he had 36 points. But most units spent at least part of their time behind the lines, so there were only a handful of soldiers who went home before serving 11 or 12 months in Korea.

Army Forces Far East Headquarters said the new policy would notaffect personnel who would be ready for rotation under the point system before Oct. 1.

They will return home on schedule, under the old system.

For soldiers who are in the Far East now—but will not rotate until after Oct. 1—the points they have already will still count. The Army will give them credit for 1-36th of their tour for each point they have. Thus, a soldier in Korea who has 27 points prior to Oct. 1 will have completed three fourths of his tour, or the equivalent of 12 months. He would have four more months to go.

Soldiers will still be allowed to volunteer for another post in the Far East after completing 10 months service in Korea. They would have to complete a minimum 12 additional months in Japan or Okinawa after their transfer.

Transit Firm's Fare Boost To Go for Taxes

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Transit Co. went before the Maryland Public Service Commission yesterday to request higher rate fares.

The company estimated higher rates would boost annual revenue by $2,925,000.

The only hitch—$2,003,225 of that amount would have to go for taxes. Only $921,775 would be kept by the company, the firm's exhibits said.

Champion Presented 3 Trophies; Others Receive Cups, Prizes

Soap Box Derby awards were presented at the regular Lions Club luncheon meeting held at Hotel Harding Monday. Master of ceremonies was Col. John Phelan of the Marion Engineer Depot.

Phillip Blue, of LaRue, Marion's 1953 Soap Box Derby champion, received three trophies. He was presented the Keating Award, a trophy given each year to the Derby winner, by the General Motors Corp. by Walter Grumblatt of the Midtown Chevrolet. He was awarded the rotating trophy that goes to the winner's school for one year, by Darl Gatchell, assistant principal of Harding High School. His third award was a large permanent trophy presented by Fred Harden, chairman of the 1953 Soap Box Derby.

Richard Lister, assistant chairman of the Derby, presented a large trophy to the Class F winner, Donald Daniel. Riley Hall presented the two small Class A and B runnerup trophies to Pat Hughes of Mansfield and Larry Craig of Marion. Keith Ridgway received the Class A sponsor's plaque on behalf of the Ridgway Hatchery of LaRue from Robert Haldeman. Paul Shelton received the Class B sponsor's plaque on behalf of the Fairfield Engineering Co. Haldeman also made this presentation.

"We didn't fraternize with them," the Marines said.

The Reds, waving flags, went to work in full view of the Marines to clean up the battle area around their positions and pick up their dead.

Red China's Peiping radio reported that withdrawal of the Communist side would be completed by the Thursday deadline.

From the Central Front, Associated Press Correspondent John Randolph reported that the U. S. 3rd Division and other units pulled back some supporting units but that up to Tuesday afternoon the front-line troops had not been withdrawn.

Randolph said the withdrawal would be made soon and would be carried off like a "fighting withdrawal without the fighting."

He said there would be a rear guard at all times, a screening force and troops in blocking positions.

"The whole idea," Randolph said, "is to provide utmost in military security, taking an extremely cautious view. The withdrawal will be as if we were under fire."

"Every piece of material that can be salvaged will be taken," Randolph said.

Allied troops were under orders to leave nothing of value.

South Korean units, whose actions were in doubt until President Rhee announced Monday they would not obstruct the truce for the time being, also began pulling back.

rag found lying outside against a rear wall of the house. The rag had been dipped into a gallon jug containing fuel oil, which the Blankenships used for heating purposes, and which had been left outside. The June 29 fire was discovered by a passing motorist who called the fire department and by a passing truck driver who used a fire extinguisher to smother the flames.

Raymond Harold Klingel, 20, of 626 Uncapher Ave., was arrested by Marion City police and charged with driving over the fire hose at the scene of the fire this morning. The hose was reported to have been laid from a fire hydrant inside the city to the place of the fire. Klingel will appear in Municipal Court today.

New City Code

police department. However, this was near the end of Mayor Dowler's term and the code was not officially adopted by Council. Last year council authorized work to begin on the new code and this spring approved it.

The new code makes cross references to the 1947 work, the Ohio General Code, Ohio Traffic Act, and Ohio Revised Code, and to Marion City ordinances not included in the 1947 Code.

The 1947 code and the 1953 code are very similar in organization with major differences an improved indexing system, addition of some new laws and repeal of others.

Included among the new laws is one which sets the penalty for violation of all city laws which do not otherwise establish specific punishment. All persons who violate any provision or ordinance of the code are subject to a maximum fine of $500 and costs and a maximum jail term of six months. However, if the violation is one of a continuing nature, each additional day is considered a new violation.

Licenses for Taxicabs

Another of the new ordinances provides that all taxicab companies operating in the city must file applications with the city council and each taxicab must carry a city license tag. Also all cab drivers must obtain a license from the city which is to be conspicuously posted in the vehicle the driver is operating. On the driver's license will be his name, address, and his photograph. The cab driver's license is to be obtained through the safety-service director and the city auditor according to the ordinance.

Others of the laws new to the code provide for inclusion of previously established state laws such as Public Health service rules for milk purity, legislative controls over financing and taxation in the municipality along with a law adopting the national fire underwriters' fire prevention code. This ordinance also sets out the limits of city fire protection as set up in the 1947 code.

In the preface the publishers also specifically thanked Marion City Solicitor George A. Piacentino for his assistance to the Michie City editors in preparing the code.

MAN TREATED FOR CUT

Howard Blevins, 21, of 759 Clinton St. was taken to City Hospital last night for treatment of a knife wound suffered at his home. After his release, he was charged with intoxication. He was given a suspended fine in Municipal Court today.

City's 4th Polio Case Reported

Letitia Swartz, 2, Of Waterloo St. Ill

The fourth case of polio in the city and the seventh this year in the entire county was reported today by Dr. M. M. Weinbaum of the City Health Department. The victim is two - year - old Letitia Swartz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Swartz of 350 Waterloo St.

She was taken to Children's Hospital in Columbus Monday afternoon where her case was officially confirmed as polio. The Health Department said that she had been slightly ill about a week.

This was the fourth confirmed case of the disease this year in the city. Three other cases had been reported to the County Board of Health.

Gamma globulin will be given to the family this afternoon. There are six children in the Swartz family.

Marion Man's Son Stricken With Polio

A Mansfield man, Warren Ullom, 39, son of Clyde Ullom of Dix Ave., this city, was stricken with polio Friday while vacationing in Wisconsin. He was taken to the hospital in Fond du lac, Wis., and his condition is reported to be serious.

Ullom, who is purchasing agent for the Westinghouse Co. in Mansfield, was accompanied by his family and his father on the vacation.

A breakin between 1 and 2:30 a.m. today at Morbitt's Tavern on N. Main St. netted someone about $240 in cash, Marion County Sheriff Glenn Obenour reported today.

Ross Morbitt, tavern manager, discovered the breakin when he stopped in at 2:30 to check on some details and saw that the front door glass had been knocked out. He reported $240 was missing from the cash register. An employee had closed the tavern at 1 a.m., he said.

The sheriff's office is investigating.

these occurred several days before the truce was signed.

The last stage in the casualty reporting is the publication of individual names and addresses. The casualty report appearing in today's newspapers includes battle deaths and injuries that occurred nearly three weeks ago.

Such reports are compiled in the Pentagon and mailed to newspapers and organizations throughout the country for publication on a future date.

It may be years before the final count is completed on the number of Americans who were killed, wounded and captured in the Korean conflict. It was only this summer that the Army issued its final report on battle casualties of World War II.

turn back 12,763 captives, including 3,313 Americans.

The U. N. Command will hand over 69,000 North Koreans and about 5,000 Chinese.

The Allies also hold 7,800 North Koreans and 14,500 Chinese who have said they will not return to communism. These prisoners will be moved to the neutral zone near Panmunjom while Communist agents try to persuade them to go home.

Bryan, a husky general who once led the 24th Division in Korea, told newsmen the first session of the Military Armistice Commission was devoted to administrative details, including ways to get joint observer teams quickly into the buffer zone dividing U. N. and Communist armies.

Bryan said "As far as I know," no armistice violations have come up.

Bryan's aides on the commission are a British general, a Thai general, a U. S. Navy admiral and an American Air Force general.

City Council

a new low cost housing development under construction north of Kenton Ave. and east of Cass Ave.

Keuchler is the owner of the property and the resolution calls for him to pay the cost of the sewer installations and to make the installations under supervision of the City Engineer's office. He also must pay the salary of an inspector to check the installations for compliance with city regulations.

To Be Dedicated to City

The sewers will be approximately 500 feet long and when completed must also be dedicated to the use of the city by Keuchler. They will extend north from Cass Ave.

In other action at last night's meeting Council:

Appointed a three-man committee to check validity of signatures on petitions submitted by the Non Partisan Home Rule Charter Committee.

Received a report of Floyd G. Browne and Associates concerning construction of sanitary sewers and a lift station to serve the northeast section of the city.

Received a request from American Legion Bird-McGinnis Post 162 for permission to lease some 30 acres of Municipal Airport land for use as a recreation area.

Received a report on the cost of portable truck weight scales proposed as a method of forcing large trucks to seek out by-pass routes around the city.

2nd Readings Given Bills

Gave second readings to, but did not discuss the following pieces of legislation:

A resolution calling for placing a three-fourths mill tax levy for current operating expenses on the November ballot.

An ordinance authorizing the Safety-Service Director to advertise for bids for purchase of a one-half cubic yard power shovel for use in the service department.

An ordinance to establish an alternate route for trucks over a portion of Prospect St. from W. Columbia St. to George St. to N. Main St.

An ordinance authorizing the installation of four street lights in Oakland Heights by the Ohio Edison Co.

An ordinance authorizing payment of a claim of city fireman Loren Bailey for damage to his uniform while fighting the Wilson Furniture Co. fire the first of June.

Members appointed to the special committee to check validity of signatures on the petitions submitted by the Non Partisan Home Rule Charter Study Committee were Don Quaintance, Sixth Ward, chairman, Louis Conkle, Fourth Ward, and Robert G. Haldeman, at-large.

The petitions call for Council to place the question "Shall a commission be formed to frame a city charter" on the November ballot.

About 850 signatures were needed on the petitions. J. E. Oliphant, chairman of the study group said that there are 1,308 names on the petitions of which nine are invalid because the signers live outside the city limits.

Three Sewer Plans

A report of preliminary studies made by Floyd G. Browne and Associates for the proposed sewer installation in the Jefferson St. area was presented by Sanitary and Sewers Committee Chairman Herman Rinehart, Third Ward.

The preliminary report presented three possible plans for the sewer installation.

First plan, and the one recommended as best by Browne and Associates, calls for the sewer to flow by gravity toward the north. Under this plan a lift station would be erected at E. Fairground St. and Jefferson St. where the sewage would be pumped into an existing sewer line to flow south again into the trunkline sewer on E. Center St.

A second plan would use the same method but would raise the sewer to a shallower depth and thus would serve a smaller area.

Third plan was to use a gravity feed system from E. Fairground St. to E. Center St. to eliminate use of the lift station, but this would be the most costly and would serve an even smaller area, Browne and Associates reported.

Cost of the first plan was estimated at a total of about $89,000, the second at $80,000, and the third at $99,000.

In answer to questions by Councilman Tom Clark, J. R. Patterson of Browne and Associates, said the engineering firm believes the first plan is the best and most economical. He said it is felt certain that the existing sewer line is capable of carrying the additional load.

City Engineer Tom Cathers backed this up with the statement that he believes the existing sewer is capable of carrying a pressure of 150 pounds to the square inch and that the sewer is now carrying about 25 pounds pressure.

The Sanitary and Sewers Committee decided to meet with Browne and Associates at the engineering firm's office on W. Church St. at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday to study the proposals further.

Legion Request

The American Legion request to lease airport farm land was presented to Council by Post 162 Commander Dr. Gerald W. Strauss He requested use of a wooded area and open field located south of the airport proper almost directly in line with the end of E. Fairground St. He said plans are to use this 30-acre area, estimated acreage, for a recreation area. Included would be a picnic area, baseball and softball diamonds, tennis, courts, and a Drum and Bugle Corps drill field.

Council decided to hold a meeting of the lands and buildings committee at the Council Chambers at 8 p.m. Aug. 4 to further study and investigate the request.

In a report on the cost of truck weigh scales, Haldeman said total cost would be about $3,000 including $1,720 for the scales and about $1,300 for carrying equipment.

He said the state highway patrol had informed him that they plan to set up a weigh station on Route 4 in the very near future. He said the Municipal Service Committee felt it best not to take any further action on purchase of scales for the city until after the patrol has made its weight checks to see if trucks coming into the city are overloaded.

Residents of S. Prospect St. submitted the proposal to buy portable scales to Council at its last meeting. Purpose of the proposal is to cause trucks to go around Marion over by-pass routes rather than contend with the delay caused by the weigh scales, they said.

Consider Move to Hospital

Council discussed very briefly plans submitted recently by the Marion County Bar Association calling for remodeling of the Marion Municipal Courtroom facilities. Finance, Ways and Means Committee Chairman Don Quaintance reported this proposal was being held up pending outcome of a proposal to move city hall to the present city hospital on completion of the new General Hospital.

Mayor Robinson said he would make a full report of this proposal and whether or not it is possible at the Council meeting on Aug. 10.

A request by Mrs. Hazel Jones of the Kaylee Pet Shop at 543 S. Prospect St. for removal of a parkprospect St. for removal of a parking ban on the east side of S. Prospect St. from Walnut St. to the first alley south of Walnut St. was referred to Safety-Service Director Ralph Forrest for action.

Council members absent from last night's meeting were Harold Fralich, Sixth Ward, William Simmons, at large, and Harold Smith, First Ward.

Invocation was given by the Rev. Walter C. Eyster, pastor of Epworth Methodist Church.

Levies

their safe exit from the building, he said.

In addition to the contemplated addition of a hospital unit onto the present County Home building, commissioners hope to remodel the women's quarters at the Marion County jail with money obtained from the second levy.

County grand juries have long recommended that the present crowded quarters for women prisoners at the county be improved, but commissioners have heretofore pointed out their lack of money with which to carry out this recommendation.

Would Cost $35,000

Commissioners are hoping to add a 36-bed hospital unit at the county home. This unit, they think, will cost at least $35,000 under present prices.

The first levy is to provide money for the commissioners to carry out a ruling of Common Pleas Court that they install an elevator in the Courthouse building.

Although testimony at the Common Pleas Court hearing in May set the cost of acquiring and installing an elevator at approximately $33,000, commissioners feel that with prevalent increased costs, the $50,000 estimated to be derived from the levy would be a more realistic figure, Reidenbaugh said.

The third levy, for current expenses for the county, is aimed at being able to pay for anticipated increased costs in maintaining county offices and departments in face of increased costs, and in alleviating crowded conditions in some Courthouse offices.

Need 60 Per Cent Vote

Passage of the levies will require a 60 per cent majority of the voters in November.

Passage of all three would mean the addition of 1.5 mills this next year on the rate of taxation for the county. If the Marion city residents also approve passage of an expected three-quarter mill levy for current operating expenses for Marion, they will be faced with a total addition of 2.25 mills.

Rate of taxation for city residents for 1952 has been 27.60 mills.

World's No. 1 Liquor Buyer Doesn't Drink

Ohio Purchasing Agent Has No Taste for Stuff He Spends Millions For

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A 48-year-old Cincinnati man reportedly buys more liquor than anyone else in the world but "doesn't touch the stuff."

He's Joseph S. Harrel, assistant chief of the state liquor department. Harrell, who does all of Ohio's 150-million-dollar-a-year liquor purchasing, says a distiller once told him he shells out more for liquor than any other individual.

Chief claim to this title is based on the fact that California, one of three states which buy more liquor than Ohio, has a purchasing board.

"I'm not a temperance man or anything," says Harrell, in explaining why he doesn't drink, "I just don't like the taste."

From figures at his fingertips, it would seem as if his dislike for liquor makes him something of an Ohio exception. Right behind New York, California and Illinois, Ohio ranks as fourth top spirituous beverage consumer in the nation.

The Buckeye State imbibes 5.7 per cent of the country's liquor each year. Cleveland, alone, knocks off 1.6 per cent of the national supply. That's more than 29 states drink.

Harrell said Ohio spends about three million dollars a week on liquor. Last year it bought 155 million dollars worth of liquor and sold it for 181 million dollars.

"We sold about 10½ million gallons and the state gets a $1 a gallon in taxes—that's not bad," he said.

Even at that, 181 million dollars is less than some states would take in on similar sales. Ohio's price is the second lowest in the country, Harrell said.

Only Virginia's prices are lower, he continued, and that's only by a few pennies.

According to the assistant director, Ohio is "strictly a bourbon center."

Cincinnati buys straight bourbon. "That's the Kentucky influence," he said.

The center of the state, he said, buys blended bourbon. And Cleveland buys everything.

"Cleveland is allocated roughly 35 per cent of all spirituous liquor in the state," Harrell said. "We always say if anything can sell, it can sell in Cleveland."

Scotch sells mainly in the metropolitan centers because it's a "higher grade drink," he continued.

Harrell said supplying good Scotch is one of his biggest headaches because Ohio's quota of 100 cases or less a month is just not enough. However, he said, he is having someone "look into" the monopoly in Scotland to see what can be done.

Because the tower of Pisa began to tilt while it was under construction, the south side of the tower is two stories taller than the north side.

TWO OF A KIND. Diving accidents have put two youths from the St. Paul, Minn., area on the summer sports sidelines, but the boys have smiles and good reasons for them. Derald Abrams, 15, South St. Paul (left) was hospitalized June 28 and for a time his head was immobilized with sandbags. Later he was fitted with a leather and metal brace. On July 11, Derald got company, David Jacobson, 19, St. Paul. David is now spending time with the sandbags. Friends have come to the aid of both, collecting $2,000 for Derald and $150 for David. Hamline University granted David a $200 scholarship so he can continue there next fall.

Williams Receives Discharge, Reports to Red Sox

Hearing Won't Harm Playing, Splinter Says

WASHINGTON (AP)— Today, for the second time in eight years, the Marine Corps releases Ted Williams from active duty.

The 34-year-old jet pilot planned to return to Boston immediately to join the Red Sox. If the Boston management wants it that way, Williams could play in tonight's game against Chicago, although he says he is not in condition.

Williams, who is a captain in the Marine Corps' volunteer reserve, was called up May 1, 1952, and sent to Korea. He flew 38 missions before an ear and nose ailment sent him to the sidelines.

Doctors at the naval hospital in suburban Bethesda, Md., put him through a treatment program and yesterday gave him a clean bill of health. That freed him for immediate separation from active duty, although his term of duty normally would not expire until Oct. 1.

It usually takes days or even weeks for the separation formalities to be completed. In Williams' case, it is taking less than 24 hours.

Asked whether he thought his ailment would interfere with his playing, Williams said, "I guess I can't hear as well as I used to, but I don't think that'll bother my ball playing."

Williams scoffed at published stories that he will be back in the Red Sox lineup by such and such a date. He said that personally he has no idea when he'll play.

"I'm stiff," he said. "I haven't swung a bat in nearly two years. I don't want to be get in there and hurt the club because I'm not ready."

But he made it quite clear he wants to get back in action—and soon. He's looking forward to quite a few seasons of big league ball.

Indianapolis' Lead In AA Threatened

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Indianapolis Indians barely held their American Association lead last night.

They came up with a 12-inning 1-0 victory over the St. Paul Saints in the second game of a doubleheader after losing the opener 9-2.

Had the Indians lost the second game they would have been in third place, four percentage points behind Toledo and one back of Louisville.

As it is, Toledo—which beat Minneapolis twice, 6-4 and 6-1—is a half game off the Indian pace and Louisville, 5-1 victor over Columbus, is a full game back.

In other American Association activity Kansas City beat Charleston 9-2.

Trinity Team Defends Hold On No. 1 Spot

Could Clinch 2nd Round Crown With Another Win

Trinity Baptist defeated Church of the Brethren Monday at Garfield Park to maintain its hold on first place in the Church Softball League. With only one game remaining on Trinity's schedule, it can clinch a tie for first place in the second round by getting by Wesley Methodist next Monday.

Both St. Mary No. 1 and No. 2 squads are tied for second place with three wins against one loss with two games remaining to be played by each team. Trinity's record now stands at four wins and one loss.

Bill Trimmer, Trinity's pitcher, limited the Brethren to four hits while his mates were reaching Bob Williams for six bingles and five runs. With the score tied at 3-3 in the sixth, Trinity used two walks and two singles to manufacture two runs good enough to take the verdict.

St. Mary No. 1 edged first round champs, Epworth Methodist by a 5-4 count in the closest game, of the evening. With the score tied at three each after the finish of the regulation seven innings of play, Epworth scored once in the top of eight after Jack Daum opened the inning with a double scored on Roy Everly's single. The winners came back in their half of the eighth to tie the score and shove the winning run over on three hits including a two-base knock by Don Moran. Steve Norris gave up seven bingles in his winning performance while Howard Gilbert allowed St. Mary nine blows.

The hitters went wild as St. Mary No. 2 dropped Greenwood in a free slugging match, 13-11. The Irish rattled out a total of 14 base hits and scored in every inning except the second. Greenwood pounded over seven runs in the second inning when hitters went to the plate. Greenwood scored its total of eleven runs on eight hits as the Irish committed four errors behind winning hurler, Glenn Buchanan.

Nats Release Byrne

WASHINGTON (AP) — A fourth American League club has give up on Tommy Byrne, the slender North Carolinian who never quite lived up to expectations.

The Washington Senators announced yesterday the sale of Byrne to the Charleston club of the American Association. The New York Yankees, St. Louis Browns and Chicago White Sox earlier had parted company with Byrne.

SHORT SPORTS

By John Short

If there's one place in the country showing it really wants minor league baseball itis Mattoon, Ill.

The Mattoon fans have been backing their entries in the Class D Mississippi-Ohio Valley League with capacity crowds despite the Phillies' third place position. Now the fans have come up with a new plan to assure the team remains there next season.

SHORT

Mattoon has been playing in the league since its formation in 1946 and the park has taken a beating from the elements. It has become so bad that in its present condition the franchise would be shifted to one of several cities seeking the team next year.

John Lahey, an avid fan of the Phillies, sends us a clipping from the Mattoon Herald Review, which shows the fans don't intend to lose their team.

"Buy a plank" has been adopted as the theme of the city's replacement plan. Fans and business men have joined forces under that slogan in a drive for funds with which to preserve and improve the park. Buy a plank booster tickets are being sold at $1 a throw and an attendance prize is to be awarded at the final home game.

A proposition put before the boosters recently informed them they had two choices. One was an improvement at the park, the other lose the team. Nearly $100,000 would be needed for a new park but the organization has been formed and fans are enthusiastic in their backing of the improvement campaign.

The same night the plan to keep the team was announced, the players went out and belted out 15 ers went out and belted out 15 hits to clip Mt. Vernon, Ill., 15-3. The attack included six doubles and three triples.

League officials have announced that because Little League Baseball is completed and Lincoln Park available, Pony League games will be played each Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday nights to rush the season to a close.

Games Friday will be G & G Builders against Clark and VFW against Alloy. On Saturday, it will be Clark against Alloy and G & G Builders against VFW.

At the close of the season, the first half winner will meet the second-half winner in a best two-out-of-three game series for the Marion Pony League championshipp.

Women's Western Match Play Opens

CINCINNATI (AP)—One of the hottest shooting fields in the tournament's history started match play today in quest of the Women's Western Amateur golf championship.

It took an 84 to get into the championship flight, a tie for low in the tourney's 53 years.

The surprise winner of the qualifying medal was Mrs. Burt Weil of Cincinnati. She is a 49-year-old expert of the links who has won the Cincinnati city championship 11 times and the Ohio title three times.

Mrs. Weil, playing in only her third Women's Western Amateur, was only one over par as she fired a 76 in blistering heat yesterday.

The draw placed her against Claire Doran of Cleveland in the start of match play today.

Miss Doran, current Ohio titlist, had an 80 for her qualifying round.

Polly Riley of Fort Worth, Tex., the defending Western champion, finished only a stroke behind Mrs. Weil and she drew Jan Hopkins of Cleveland as her first-round opponent.

Thirty-two were in the flight.

Red Cross Seeks Aid of Baseball

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Red Cross is seeking to enlist each of the country's 350 professional baseball parks to aid in a fund raising drive this fall, and President Eisenhower has promised to lend his prestige.

George A. Garrett of the Red Cross and Clark Griffith, owner of the Washington Senators, called at the White House yesterday to invite Eisenhower to attend a Red Cross benefit game at Griffith Stadium on Aug. 10.

"The President says he is behind this 100 per cent," Garrett said later, "and he is planning to attend the game."

The idea of the Red Cross drive is to persuade each pro baseball club to donate a day's net income to its treasury.

Dizzy Dean, former star pitcher for the St. Louis Cardinals and Chicago Cubs and currently a radio sports announcer, and his wife, Patricia, admire in their New York hotel room a picture of the plaque dedicated in baseball's Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y. Dean, whose colorful announcing has attracted nationwide attention, and Al Simmons, were selected for the Hall of Fame by a vote of baseball writers.

Strong Back, Weak Mind Enough, Says Dizzy Dean

COOPERSTOWN, N. Y. (AP)—Dizzy Dean and Al Simmons are gone and the baseball brass has moved back to the city but two new shiny plaques hung in the national Baseball Hall of Fame and Museum today.

Dean and Simmons were inducted formally yesterday at ceremonies held in front of the museum. Each accepted personally, calling it the greatest honor he ever received.

Old Diz, now a professional radio and TV man, glibly expressed his thanks to the baseball writers, officials and players who helped him.

"The good Lord was good to me," he said. "Gave me a good right arm, strong back and a weak mind."

Dean looked around the platform where Ty Cobb, Cy Young, Ed Walsh, Rogers Hornsby, Connie Mack and Simmons sat.

"Them's the kind of ball players I'd like to have behind me but I had a real gang behind me, too, catching those line drives and getting me those runs," he said.

Simmons paid his respects to Connie Mack, under whom he played during his greatest years in the American League at Philadelphia.

More Heroes Needed, Says Braves' Grimm

Mathews Fills Role, Belts Pair To Climb Near Babe Ruth's Pace

MILWAUKEE (AP)—"All we need is more heroes."

So chortled Charlie Grimm last night as his Milwaukee Braves frolicked into the clubhouse after mauling the New York Giants 13-0, with Eddie Mathews blasting a pair of home runs to lead the wrecking crew.

"This is a first division club, just like I said before," Grimm added. "Sure, we've been in a slump but we're bound to snap out of it. This is a young ball club, with a couple of exceptions, and you've got to expect a letdown occasionally.

"But a few more heroes, like that kid Mathews tonight, and we're back in business for sure."

Mathews, the major league's home run leader for most of the year, is just off the pace set by Babe Ruth in his record 60 homer season of 1927. Ruth clouted two in his 95th game, just as Mathews did last night, only one day earlier—July 26—to boost his mark to 33, one ahead of the 21-year-old Milwaukee slugger.

Early in the season, when the Braves were burning up the National League, they operated on what amounted to a "a hero a game" system. Then, all at once, the fireworks fizzled. Nothing worked and the club started sliding. When it came home yesterday it was 7½ games behind pace-setting Brooklyn and only half a game ahead of third-place Philadelphia. Last night's victory chopped half a game off the Dodgers' lead.

Before the game, Grimm barred newspapermen from the clubhouse. He said later he'd "talked to the boys a little." A good part of the lecture, he admitted, concerned a fracas in New York Saturday night involving shortstop Johnny Logan and Vern Bickford, veteran pitcher who has failed to deliver this year and now works in the bullpen.

Grimm said the two players told him they'd had an argument and that Logan had popped Bickford once under one eye.

"It's all over now," Grimm said. "They're friends again. But I let the whole club know there was to be no more stuff like that going on. It's the first time since I've been a manager anything like that's happened. There are no fines, no suspensions, no punishments.

"We're going to play ball now we're home again. This is the time to make hay and we're going to do it. We're in the first division to stay."

Redlegs Meet Phillies After Exhibition Win

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs open a 14-game home stand tonight by taking on Steve O'Neill's third-place Philadelphia Phillies. Righthander Karl Drews (5-8) is the probable Philly choice to oppose lefty Harry Perkowski (8-7) as the clubs begin their three-game series.

The Rhinelanders tuned up for their return home by pasting the Chicago White Sox, 16-6, in an exhibition game at Cooperstown, N. Y., celebrating Hall of Fame Day.

Hermie Wehmeier and Bob Kelly pitched for the Redlegs, with the former getting credit for the victory. Willard Marshall hit a three-run homer for the Redlegs, while Louis Aloma and Ed Stewart hit homers for the American Leaguers.

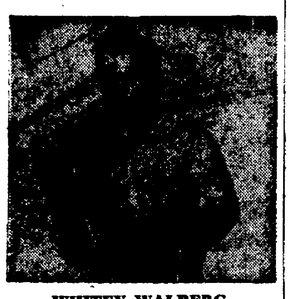
Wrestles Jack Vansky Thursday On All Star Card



WHITEY WALBERG

The other top feature will see the most hated of all Scotchmen, Hercules McIntre, wrestling the Columbus popular Joe Wolfe. To round out a very good card Promoter Fishbaugh has signed two of the latest boys to come to this part of the country for the 8:30 match. They are Dom Doganiero and Ray Stevens. You have seen these boys on TV, now see them in person at the newly redecorated Marion Armory.

Wynn Opposes Ford

Indians Begin Do or Die Series Against New York

NEW YORK (AP)—For the Cleveland Indians in three games starting here tonight it's do (beat the Yankees) or die (in the 1953 pennant race).

Probably the last man to give up on the Tribe for this year will be its manager, Al Lopez. And Lopez said a month ago his men would have a chance for the flag if they were within four games of the top Aug. 1.

When Early Wynn (10-7) of Cleveland and Whitey Ford (10-4) of New York start pitching tonight, the Indians will be trailing the champs by eight games.

Loss of even one of the three here would send the Indians to Philadelphia Friday night still seven games off the pace with only 56 contests left.

The Indians will be trying tonight to even their record against the Yanks this campaign at seven games each. New York won the first seven and Cleveland has copped the last six. Ford won three of the Yanks victories and lost twice. Wynn stands 2-2 with the Bronx Bombers.

Rightfielder Harry Simpson, whose back was hurt in a collision with Avila July 6, did not come east with the Indians. He had started workouts in Cleveland, but rookie Al Smith will stay for a while as his substitute.

Brown Greets 51 Hopefuls

One Newcomer Sure Of Houston's Position

HIRAM, Ohio (AP)—Fifty-one big boys begin today trying to squeeze into 33 jobs on the 1953 Cleveland Browns pro football club.

One starting assignment—offensive right guard—already is certain to go to one of the 26 newcomers on the Browns' squad.

In line for the vacancy left by retirement of Lin Houston yesterday are Gene Donaldson, who played in two bowl games for Kentucky; Roy Smith of Tennessee, a 24-year-old rookie; and Ed Bagdon of Michigan State, who was with the Washington Redskins last year and was released.

The Browns signed two more players yesterday—Bill Maletzky, 27th choice in the 1952 draft, and Hugh Frost, a Bluffton College fullback. Maletzky, a linebacker, had expected to go into the Air Force, but his call has been delayed until next year.

Double Main Go Booked at Armory

A double main event will highlight the Thursday night wrestling show at the armory, Promoter Les Fishbaugh announced today.

Whitey Walberg will tangle with Jack Vansky in one 60-minute bout while the other feature attraction will send Joe Wolfe against Hercules McIntire.

Dom Doganiero and Ray Stevens, a pair of newcomers to the Marion mat, will meet in the one-fall opener.

Little League All-Stars Lose In Tourney Bid

Newark Wins, 7-0; American League In Action Tonight

The Marion National League All-Stars dropped their first tournament game Monday night at Newark. The Newark American League All-Stars pounded out six well-placed hits to shut out the Marion Little League team in its first tournament try, 7-0.

Newark took control in the first inning. Bonman, Callahan and Cashdollar hit to score two and put the home team ahead to stay. Marion got one of its hits in the first but it was only a small scratch on the Newark pitcher's armor. Vogel went the distance for Newark stopping Marion on two scattered hits.

In the second Newark was stopped cold but came back in the third like wildfire. Two hits and three walks gave it a comfortable six-run lead. In the meantime Chamberlain, Marion's starter, had struck out four men in three innings. Chamberlain was relieved by Steve Flesher in the fourth.

Newark scored its last run in the top of the fourth but it was done on Marion misplays. It failed to hit in the fourth. With a handsome seven-run lead Newark managed to hold the locals to one hit after the first inning. Jim Hough singled for Marion in the fourth. Larry Ballinger received the other Marion hit. Chamberlain, the starter, had allowed six runs on six hits when relieved by Flesher.

Tonight at Newark the Marion American League team will play the Newark American Leaguers.

Dodgers Have Chance To Pull Away in West

Brooklyn Eyes New York as Only Threat.

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

If the Brooklyn Dodgers play close to .500 ball on their 13-game Western road trip opening today in Chicago, the home office will be sorely tempted to start having World Series tickets printed.

The Dodgers begin their third Western swing with a seven-game bulge over the Milwaukee Braves and the deep-rooted conviction that the only serious challenger between them and the pennant is fourth-place New York.

The Giants went West with high hopes, too, but they got off to a dreadful start last night in Milwaukee where the given-up-for-dead Braves buried them under a 13-0 count.

For the Dodgers, the West this year has proved just as wild and wooly as the storybooks claim. Brooklyn won only three out of eight games on its first journey West. On their second trip the Dodgers won six and lost eight. But it was on that second tour that the Dodgers finished up with three straight over Milwaukee and moved into the league lead they've held ever since.

The Giants can still recover from last night's beating. Unlike the Dodgers they've played good ball in the West this season, winning 14 out of 21. They have a winning edge in every park except Milwaukee, where they've now lost four out of six.

After the Braves dropped three of their four games in Brooklyn over the weekend, most observers figured they were finished. But against New York last night Charlie Grimm's lads tried to persuade the home folks it was all a mistake.

They clubbed four New York pitchers for 14 hits and made it easy for lefty Warren Spahn to register his 13th victory of the season and his 30th major league shutout.

Eddie Mathews hammered two home runs, the first one with the bases loaded during an eight-run uprising in the fourth inning. The blast was Mathews' second grand slam clout of the season and his night's work left him with 32 homers in 95 games, one short of Babe Ruth's pace in 1927, the year the Babe hit the all-time record of 60.

Everybody but Spahn contributed one hit and Mathews got three. Jim Hearn was the loser.

The game was the only one in either league.

The Giants stick around Milwaukee for three more games on this visit. Brooklyn plays three in Chicago. Pittsburgh is in St. Louis for three and Philadelphia opens the tour with three in Cincinnati.

In the American league, where only eight games separate fourth-place Cleveland and first-place New York, the Yankees begin their home stand with three games against the Indians who have beaten them six in a row. Boston, fresh from a brilliant 10-2 road trip, makes its bid for better things against second-place Chicago in Boston. St. Louis will be at Philadelphia and Detroit at Washington.

Dude Grice Wins Feature At Speedway

Dude Grice won the feature event at the Marion Speedway Sunday night after Ted Rambo collided with Doug Amstutz of Mansfield.

Rambo had been setting the pace when the collision occurred. Don Horn came in second and Amstutz was third. The four cars had qualified within one second of each other.

Joe Irwin of Richwood furnished the main surprise of the program when he raced in the first elimination.

Irwin arrived too late for the qualifying heats and started in the scratch position. He jumped into an early lead and was never headed. Glen McKnight of Marion copped second and Emerson Dyer of Kenton was third.

Paul Hooper won the second elimination over 12 of the fastest qualifiers. Dude Grice was second and Ted Rambo took third.

An unknown, tabbing himself as the "pantom driver," took the novice event. That race is staged each week for amateur drivers wishing to enter their own cars. Only safety equipment in the cars is a crash helmet. The winner, dressed in a black helmet and long cape refused to identify himself but said he would return next week.

Hooper came home first in the helmet dash, touring the five laps in a minute and 42 seconds. Rambo was second and Don Horn of Lima came in third. Bob Harris of Bucyrus took the figure-eight event with Bill Williamson of Marion, making his first start in stock cars, coming home second. Bill Collier of Marion was third. Spencer Foor, a member of the U. S. Army, overturned near the end of the race.

The suicide race had to be restarted when Williamson rolled over on the short track and was plowed into by eight other cars. Harold England of Old Fort finished first, Ken Stuckey of Tiffin, second, and Chuck Smith of Kenton, third.

Company Has 'Open House' In New Factory

Clark Metal Products Begins Operations in Fairground St. Plant

An "open house" Saturday afternoon and evening at the new Clark Metal Products Co. factory drew an estimated attendance of 125 customers, friends, and members of employees families, including guests from out of the state as well as from Ohio cities.

The company recently completed construction of the new plant near Lincoln Park and operation started there two weeks ago. The old plant was located at 409 W. Center St.

People came for the general opening event from Detroit, Mich., and Newcastle, Pa., and places in Ohio for which the Marion company does work.

There are 24 employees here engaged in the making of precision dies, tools and fixtures.

Entertainment during the afternoon and evening included a picnic, golf at the Mar-O-Del Golf Course and shooting at Hinton's gallery.

Officials of the company are Thomas H. Clark and T. H. Clark Jr. who have been in business here the last seven years. The new factory building, located west of Lincoln Park on W. Fairground St., is open for inspection by anyone interested, company officials announced.

FILES AGAINST GOVERNMENT

CINCINNATI —Marvin Roman of Lebanon filed suit in U. S. District Court against the U. S. government yesterday, asking damages of $25,558. He charged he was hit by an Army vehicle traveling in convoy in Lebanon on Jan. 7, 1952.

New Bloomington Man Fined, Jailed On Traffic Charge

Arrests made Monday by Marion patrolmen included one of Kenneth E. Oliver, 27, of New Bloomington, who was cited to appear in Municipal Court Monday on a charge of driving after his license had been suspended.

He was fined $200 and costs and was sentenced to 30 days in Marion County jail.

The arrest followed an accident Saturday involving the Oliver car and one driven by William R. Solomon, 45, of 1034 W. Center St. in which the Oliver car rammed into the rear of Solomon's auto, just west of the New Bloomington village limits.

Other arrests included: Edwin N. Ledman, 24, of LaRue, speeding, cited to appear Aug. 1 in Municipal Court; Carl Clemsson, 25, of Big Rock, Ill., speeding, fined $10 and costs by Justice of Peace L. C. Schoenberger at Upper Sandusky.

It is estimated that rubber tires last five times as long and cost half as much today as in 1920.

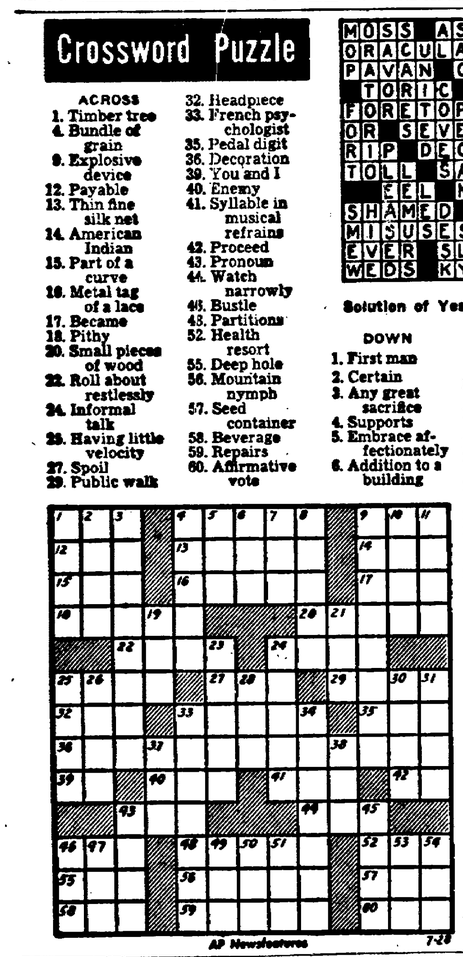
Solution of Yesterday's Puzzle



Speech Defect Correction Gains

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP)—Twelve years ago, an understanding teacher embarked on a special career here that has since been recognized nationally.

Miss Helen G. Rochford established the first training class in the country to use scientific speech education for children with cleft palates.

The program originally was set up by the late Dr. J. Sutton Regan, who had specialized in palate surgery. It called for the combination of scientific, medical, educational and psychological studies.

Since its inception, more than 70 students from western New York have been enrolled in the school department's speech class. There are now 24 children with speech deficiencies at Public School 80 here who participate in regular classroom programs, in addition to attending Miss Rochford's class. This system, she explains, keeps them from developing complexes.

Miss Rochford noted that her pupils combine their tongue and breathing exercises with simple little games, such as blowing feathers, or ping pong balls.

One of the most important factors in encouraging the child with a speech impediment, added the teacher, was understanding and cooperation from the parents.

"Attitudes are caught, not taught," she explained. Miss Rochford also warned parents, that "children can absorb a sense of shame, even though they are not reminded of their condition."

Judge Sees No Marks, Boxer Is Released

BANGOR, Me. (UP) — A former Maine welterweight and lightweight champion, Hermie Freeman, faced the judge in municipal court on a charge of assault and battery on his one-time manager, William Cyr.

"Did you hit him?" asked Judge Edward I. Gross.

"Judge, if I had hit him you'd know it," replied Freeman.

Judge Gross looked at Cyr's unmarked face.

"Case dismissed," he said.
